FOREWORD

For several years I have felt the need for our Association to have a written history. I thought about it for quite some time before attempting to write one. First, I contacted Dr. E. Earl Joiner, Curator of the Florida Baptist Historical Society, and now Head of the Department of Religion at Stetson University, Deland, Florida. He arranged for me to have access to the room where the Associational Annual Minutes were kept. On June 26 and July 13, 1978, my wife and I started on this history by going to the library at Stetson University and making photocopies of all the old annual minutes of our Association that were available from 1879 to 1929. Most of the annual minutes after 1929 were available to us in our Association.

Rev. Norman Levine of Melrose, and Rev. R. V. "Buddy" Hogarth of Palatka, took me on several trips into Bradford, Clay, and Putnam counties, looking for old churches, and talking with people about the old churches that use to be in the community. We sought any information that we could obtain from former members.

I wish to thank Mrs. Francine McNett, our Associational Secretary, and Mrs. Betty Elasczyk, Secretary of the First Baptist Church of Palatka for making photocopies of the manuscripts. I wish to thank Mrs. Neda Hill, formerly an English instructor at Broward Community College in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, now of Meridian, Mississippi, for proofreading the manuscripts; and Mrs. Gwen Bobbitt of East Palatka, for typing the manuscripts.

I regret that this history is not complete, and never can be, since so much time has elapsed following the disappearance of many churches from the scene, and since several copies of the annual minutes are not available. All the information in this history comes directly from the available copies of the annual minutes. If the name of a pastor or a church is left out, it is because we do not have that information available to us. There is one important fact about this history: it is the one place that we can look to find so much about our Association and its service to the Lord Jesus Christ.

INTRODUCTION - The Baptist Association

E. C. Watson offers this definition of a Baptist Association: "The Baptist Association is a self-determining Baptist interchurch community created and sustained by the churches affiliated with her and responsible to them through their messengers, in which the churches foster their fellowship, their unity in faith and practice and give and receive assistance in achieving their purpose."¹

Persons of like mind and interest will gather with each other. By a law as real as the law of gravitation, they will seek each other's company.

Associations date from the early 1640's in England. There were several factors that motivated these early churches to associate themselves. There were the desire for fellowship, the need to propagate the gospel, the need for strengthening one another, the desire for counsel, and the need to steady one another in doctrine and explain themselves unitedly to the world.

The Baptist Association arose to assist the churches in various ways and to carry on a program too large in scope and too expensive for one church to carry alone.

The First Baptist Church in America was organized in 1639; the first known Baptist Association was not organized until 1707, when the Philadelphia Baptist Association came into being. The associational idea was brought here by Baptists from England, Ireland, and Wales, who became accustomed to the associational idea and were convinced of its value long before they came to America.

Possibly the sole intention of early Baptists in the creation of associations was to provide an opportunity for pastors and church members to establish and maintain a meaningful fellowship. The search for a doctrinal basis strengthened the meaningful fellowship among churches. Sometimes their study revealed that no real basis for fellowship existed, and groups went their separate ways. For those remaining there was a stronger sense of unity because together they had sought out and found the answers to the haunting question, "Who are we?"

Associations moved next into a time when they developed a consciousness of mission needs at home and abroad. In many instances early associations employed or commissioned missionaries to visit and minister in destitute areas as they did in the St. Johns River Association in the late '80's and '90's, and at the turn of the century.

The nature of the association may be seen by a careful analysis of the terms used in the first part of the definition of an association. It is a self-determining Baptist interchurch community, created and sustained by the churches affiliated with it and responsible to them through messengers. The association is self-determining, that is, in decision-making the association has free choice under the Lordship of Christ and the guidance of the Holy Spirit. It is free to make the decisions without external compulsion from any other group, including the churches. Associations are created by the churches affiliated with them. They come into being when interested churches act officially to recognize the existence of a fellowship among themselves and formally petition sister churches for acceptance as participants in the fellowship.

According to E. C. Watson in The Baptist Association, the function of the association is three-fold.

First, is to foster fellowship among churches. Associations provide the churches with a means of achieving and expressing a vital, growing inter-church fellowship. To foster this fellowship, associations provide ways through which all may become acquainted as individuals and congregations. In meeting, they learn about the other churches and share their successes, joys, failures, and concerns.

Second, to foster unity in faith and practice. Churches create associations to foster unity and practice. This unity deals both with the content of their faith and the things which are done to give expression to their beliefs.

Third, to assist the churches in accomplishing their mission. "Churches create associations as a way to give and receive help in accomplishing their mission. The association derives its nature and mission from the nature and mission of the church. What the churches exist to accomplish, the association exists to help them accomplish. Assistance to churches may take one or more of these forms: (1) The association may provide organization and leadership for cooperative projects through which the churches may give and receive assistance. (2) Associational leaders may provide personal help to individual churches and may help to obtain resources needed by individual churches. (3) The association may lead churches to offer help to other churches, and the association may channel this assistance to the churches needing it. (4) Assistance from other Baptist bodies and other groups may be channeled through the association to the churches. (5) The association may conduct the work they do to extend their own ministry cooperatively within the associational area."²

The object of the St. Johns River Baptist Association, Inc., is to inform and stimulate its membership through the promotion of Sunday School, Church Training, Woman's Missionary Union, Brotherhood, Music, and Christian Education. The Association is affiliated with the Florida Baptist Convention and the Southern Baptist Convention. Its membership consists of churches who are in friendly cooperation with the Florida Baptist Convention and the Southern Baptist Convention. Each church is represented by members who are duly authorized messengers.

The Association meets twice a year. The Annual Meeting is in October and the Semi-Annual Meeting is held in April. The Association has no power to control or interfere with the rights of the churches, but may act in any advisory capacity to the churches if requested by the local church involved.

The officers of the Association are: the Moderator, Vice-Moderator, Clerk, Assistant Clerk, Treasurer, and Director of Promotion.

The Executive Committee composed of all pastors, department directors, Ministers of Music/Education, and a lay member from each church, meets monthly. It is charged with the duty of carrying out instructions given it by the Association and has interim authority to act for the Association.

The Association is supported by several churches as they give to Associational Missions. The Budget/Finance and Stewardship Committee prepares a financial budget each year that is approved by the Association at its Annual Meeting in October.

At the present time the Association is composed of thirty-seven churches and two missions.

CHAPTER ONE

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF ASSOCIATIONAL AREA

HISTORICAL DEVELOPMENT

The first great rush to Florida began four hundred years ago. The attention of the civilized world, in the first decades of the sixteenth century, was founded upon the peninsula which separates the Gulf of Mexico from the Atlantic Ocean.

The expeditions to Florida in the sixteenth century were part of one of the great significant movements of people that, taken together, make history. A new world had been discovered, and adventurous men flocked to it searching for -- what? People seek in Florida today precisely what the Spaniards sought four hundred years ago--health and wealth.

What white men first saw in Florida will never be known. The earliest maps show land intended to represent the peninsula, but the earliest record is of the expedition of Ponce de Leon, Governor of Puerto Rico and shipmate of Columbus on his second voyage. In 1513 he obtained a royal grant to explore and colonize the "Island of Bimini," where, it was asserted in Indian tradition, there flowed a magical fountain. The waters of this fountain were said to have power of restoring old men to youth. Ponce de Leon, at fifty-three, felt himself already old. Other adventurers had sought gold in America; he was the first to seek health.

On Easter Sunday (Pascua del Florida) of 1513, March 3, his expedition landed near the mouth of the St. Johns River, and he named the land after the holy day, Florida. He found no fountain of youth, but after exploration of both coasts decided that he had founded an immense island. He returned to Spain and obtained an addition to his royal grant; now he was authorized to colonize, not only the mythical Bimini, but the new land of Florida, of which he was named president. And in 1521 he again landed in Florida, engaged in a fight with the Indians, retired to his ship and sailed to Cuba, where he soon died at sixty-one, disappointed at his quest for the Fountain of Youth.

How little human nature has changed! The same thing is happening with respect to Florida today. Men are selling all their possessions, closing up their affairs elsewhere, to hurry to Florida in search of what Ponce de Leon and Fernando de Soto sought -- health and wealth. The important difference is that today they are finding things which the Spaniards failed to find so long ago.

De Soto's expedition landed in Tampa Bay, marched northward across the Suwannee River to a rendezvous at Pensacola, and on to the Mississippi, without finding the gold they sought. Their leader died on the banks of the great river, and that was the end of the first great Florida rush.

Twenty years later, in 1559, Tristan de Luna attempted to establish a Spanish colony at Pensacola, but abandoned the effort in 1561. Then, in 1562, Jean Ribaut, with a band of French Huguenots, fleeing from persecution, made a landing on Anastasia Island, at St. Augustine, explored the coast as far north as the St. Johns, and claimed the country for France.

Ribaut's colony, however, made its permanent base on an island near what is now Beauford, S. C. Two years later another group of Huguenots, under the leadership of René de Laudonnière, reached Florida and established Fort Caroline, at the mouth of the St. Johns.

This colony did not prosper, and they were about to return to France when, on August 28, 1565, Ribaut with three hundred new arrivals from France entered the harbor.

On the same day the Spaniard Pedro Menéndez de Aviles landed an expedition in the Bay of St. Augustine, the purpose with which they sailed from Spain being to destroy the Huguenot settlement. His force descended upon Fort Caroline on September 20, and put to death almost the entire garrison. "We destroyed them, not as Frenchmen but as Protestants," said, Menéndez¹. Ribaut's ships, attempting to escape, were wrecked near Matanzas Inlet, at the south end of Anastasia Island. He, with most of his followers, surrendered to Menéndez, and all were executed.

The tragedy of Fort Caroline was the beginning of a tale of bloody conquest and reprisals. Menéndez undertook to plant the Spanish flag firmly in Florida, and established, at St. Augustine, the first settlement in what is now the United States that has endured to the present time. He explored the Atlantic Coast from Cape Florida to St. Helena, and in 1567 returned to Spain, after establishing forts at Avista, Gaule, St. Helena, and San Mateo, the last on the site of the ill-fated Fort Caroline.

The news of the massacre of the French colony at Fort Caroline caused little stir in Paris, but a friend of Ribaut's, Domonique de Gourges, vowed vengeance against the Spaniards. He captured Fort San Mateo (Fort Caroline) in the Spring of 1568. He hanged the Spanish prisoners, as their leader had hanged the French garrison, and on a tablet of pine carved an inscription which was a paraphrase of Menéndez's own: "I do this not as unto Spaniards, but as to traitors, robbers and murders."²

By the Treaty of Paris of 1763, Florida became an English colony, in exchange for Havana. The English set up two provinces, West Florida, extending from the Chattahoochee and Apalachicola rivers to the Mississippi, and East Florida, comprising the rest of the territory. Active colonization was begun when 1500 men and women came from Minorca, a little island in the Mediterranean, to start an indigo plantation at New Smyrna. In 1776 the Minorcans revolted against the conditions of labor and many moved to St. Augustine. In St. Augustine and vicinity today many of the finest old families are descendants of the Spanish settlers of the earlier days.

By the Treaty of Paris of 1783, Florida was ceded back to Spain. Then by the Treaty of 1795 between the United States and Spain, the northern boundary of Florida was fixed as it now stands. In the course of trading between Spain and France, the Spanish territories in North America, known as Louisiana, came into the possession of France and in 1803 the United States bought Louisiana from Napoleon Bonaparte for fifteen million dollars. There was a certain vagueness, however, about the disposition of East and West Florida. President Madison, on the theory that West Florida had been included in the Louisiana Purchase, issued a proclamation on October 27, 1810, declaring it to be under the jurisdiction of the United States and annexing the region lying west of Pensacola to Louisiana and Mississippi.

Finally, in 1818, when the United States became convinced that the Spanish were inciting the Seminoles against the Americans, General Andrew Jackson was sent against Pensacola, which he captured. Finally in 1821 Spain ceded all Florida, East and West, to the United States.

St. Augustine is the oldest continuous settlement of European origin in what is now the United States. It was founded September 8, 1565, forty years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock. It was the birthplace of western civilization and Christianity in this country.

The settlement of the area had its origin in the religious troubles experienced by the French Huguenots under Charles IX of France and the Catholics of King Philip II of Spain.

The Catholics continued to grow until their progress was slowed down in 1763, when Spain ceded Florida to England. When Florida was returned to Spain in 1783, Catholicism renewed its activities. After the Catholics, came the Episcopalians. Making good use of the period of English control, 1763-1783, they built a church in St. Augustine. Though they declined in influence during the second period of Spanish control, they renewed their activities in 1821, when the country became a territory of the United States.

During the time when Catholicism was the only legal religion in Florida, people were coming into the territory from other sections. Some of these were Methodists and Baptists. Methodist records show that a circuit rider was assigned to Pensacola and other points in Florida from 1821.

As early as 1822 Baptists in Georgia were strong enough to have a Baptist State Convention. Many of these Georgia Baptists moved across the frontier into Florida. Among the early Baptist preachers were Wilson Conner, Fleming Bates, Joshua Mercer, James McDaniel, and John Tucker. The first minutes of the Pigeon Creek Baptist Church, located north of Hilliard in Nassau County, Florida, record that Fleming Bates was one of two Baptist ministers directing the organization of that body into the first Baptist church in Florida, January 7, 1821. In 1830 Bates became the pastor of New Zion Baptist Church in Alachua County.

The area occupied by our Association was mostly a rural area. The major crops appeared to be timber, livestock, and truck gardening. The people appeared to be plain, hardworking people who lived simply and roughly. Since they depended upon their land for most of their food, they probably never lacked for the necessities of life. Most had cattle and hogs, some sheep, corn, sweet potatoes, sugar cane, syrup, cornbread and hominy, a small patch of cotton, enough cash to buy their coffee, and simple clothing.

Farming, cattle raising, logging and turpentine appeared to be the chief means of livelihood for those who lived the rugged frontier life in this section of the state in the 1870's and 1880's. The basic diet consisted of fried meat (usually game), grits, gravy, cornbread and syrup, collard greens, sweet potatoes, and fruit. Meat included game, fatback, pork, beef, and chicken. There were some items that necessitated a trip to town, such as salt, sugar, etc.

Overland transportation in the 1870's and 1880's was difficult. Those who had access to water transportation found it efficient and inexpensive. But those that did not have access to water transportation had to travel on foot, on horseback, or by wagon.

Many of the small communities in the area grew up around the timber industry. An article in the Jacksonville Times-Union and Journal, Saturday, January 27, 1979, described the developing of a community called Wilderness, located about 12 miles southwest of Middleburg, in Clay County. The story tells how Martin Fouts moved his family to Clay County from South Carolina in 1885. He bought 80 acres of land on a branch of Ates Creek, paying a dollar an acre. At first, Fouts' mill combed cotton in a gin and ground corn. Later he added a saw mill to saw timber and another mill to grind cane. A flourishing community developed around this operation. The town died when the mill was destroyed. It appears that Union and Evergreen Baptist churches served this community. This is an example of how some of the small towns grew and flourished and died. Perhaps this is why some of our churches flourished for awhile and vanished with hardly a trace.

The earliest settlement in the Palatka area appeared in 1765, being located a few miles south of Palatka, which wasn't established for another 88 years. This first town was named Rollestown, being named for Denys Rolles of England, whose family was connected with the Rolls-Royce automobile. He laid claim to a large tract of land near where the Florida Power and Light Company is located in East Palatka.

Following the Civil War, the St. Johns River became the great central highway into the pathless area of central Florida. Its deliberate northern flow, originating in the marshland of southeast Florida, provided a waterway deep into central Florida. Sand bars at the mouth of the St. Johns River kept out deepdraft ships, but the smaller steamers kicked up their white wake up and down the river, stopping at towns and plantations along the river.

The steamers stopped at almost all towns and plantations along the river to load and unload passengers, mail, and cargo. The plantation owners would put up a flag by day and a lantern by night to signal the ships to stop. Mail was delivered up and down the river until the 1920's. Several steamer lines ran from Crescent City and Georgetown to Palatka and Jacksonville. From 1886 the ACL Railroad ran from Jacksonville to Palatka, to Satsuma, Lake Como, Pomona Park, Crescent City, Pierson, Seville, on to Sanford and later to Tampa. But during this time people along the river continued to use the steamers for cargo, passengers, and mail. The steamer lines would bid on the mail route each year. Many of the plantation owners had their citrus packing plants built right on the river, where the steamers could pull up to the dock and load the boxes of fruit. Steamers appeared to use the river into the 1940's. Commercial barges pushed by tugs still ply up and down the river, carrying oil to the paper mill at Palatka, and the power companies at East Palatka, Sanford, and Enterprise.

Boat transportation from Jacksonville to Green Cove Springs in the 1880's (twenty-five miles one way) took four hours. The cost was seventy-five cents one way and a dollar round trip. Some of the stops along the river from Jacksonville to Sanford were: Mandarin, Orange Park, Fruit Cove, Switzerland, Middleburg, Hibernia, Magnolia Springs, Green Cove Springs, Picolata, Tocoi, Federal Point, Palatka, Buffalo Bluff, Nashua, Welaka, Mt. Royal, Syracuse, Norwalk, Ft. Gates, Fruitland, Drayton Island, Volusia, to Sanford, which was first known as Mellonville. It was the county seat of both Orange and Volusia counties (1865) until a new courthouse could be built at Enterprise.

Palatka's growth was helped by the river traffic and military operations in the area after the Indians devastated the area in 1836. Logs were floated down the river to lumber mills in Jacksonville. The first railroad to serve the Palatka area was the Gainesville, Ocala and Charlotte Harbor Railway, which had a branch line intersectioning the main route from Gainesville to Lake City. Several other railroads later served the area. Flagler built a railroad line to Palatka from St. Augustine. He wanted to build a hotel on the waterfront in Palatka, but the city would not sell him the land.

The cow did not set foot in the area of the St. Johns River Baptist Association until 1521, the year that Ponce de Leon sailed from Santo Domingo to Florida, arriving with six heifers and a bull. These Andalusian cattle are the ancestors of the Texas Longhorn.

The seventeenth century was a time of expansion for the Florida cattle industry. With the eighteenth century came wars, raids, and the destruction of the Spanish missions and the agriculture that had grown up around them. The first war between the cowboys and Indians probably took place in the area. A group of Oconee Indians soon, around 1750, moved from Georgia and Alabama south to a place near Micanopy, Florida. They grew corn and large herds of cattle, which grazed the Alachua Prairie and Paynes Prairie.

Likewise to the St. Johns came the cattlemen. Packing their ponies with provisions, they drove their herds before them, to find in this area a home. Convinced that cow stealing was the one really serious crime, these cattlemen stood always ready in the event of any such occurrence to lynch the suspected offender as a matter of moral duty.

The second period of Spanish rule over Florida (1783-1821) was the time of the Spanish Land Grant. The grants ranged from a few thousand to more than a million acres, given to individuals and companies. Those who received the grants agreed to bring in settlers and clear a portion of the grant land. Spanish efforts to colonize Florida were never a success, yet part of the Spanish culture lives on in Florida in the great citrus and flourishing livestock industries, as well as in the custom of her people. We are privileged to have access to Spanish customs and culture so close to us in St. Augustine.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, Florida cattlemen were no match for those in Texas; but Florida was tabbed to be the main supplier of beef for the confederacy. Florida cattle provided not only army food rations but also leather for equipment and tallow for candles.

The Florida cattle industry in its present form began in early 1920. This was the effort to control the tick fever, a battle that did not end until 1950.

It staggers the mind: Ponce de Leon sailed from Santo Domingo to St. Augustine in 1521 with six heifers and a bull, and from that small beginning has come a Florida population that numbers into the millions, a minor miracle never envisioned by the Spanish friars who tended the first herds.

The orange was introduced to Florida between 1513 and 1565. It was introduced by either Ponce de Leon or someone else a bit later. On April 2, 1579, Pedro Menéndez, Marques of the Audencia (Court of Justice) of Santo Domingo, reported to the Audencia from St. Augustine, that he found many of the fruits of Spain, such as figs, pomegranates, oranges, and grapes in great quantity. Two hundred years later early settlers found citrus groves in many parts of the state, usually on hammock lands near lakes or rivers where Indians had established villages. Apparently the Spanish had given some of their oranges to the Indians.

William Bartram, writing in 1791 about his travels in East and West Florida in 1774, said that when he was sailing down the St. Johns River alone in a small boat he looked for high land for his camp at night. At these camping places he always found wild orange trees in amongst the magnolia, oak, hickory, and bay trees. It was as if the Indians had deliberately scattered orange seeds around their villages so they would have their own orange trees.

The great freeze of 1735 halted the spread of citrus trees across the land of Florida. Trees a hundred years old were killed to the ground. In the spring, however, many of the trees grew up from the roots and in two years bore fruit once more.

During their first occupation, the Spanish failed to see the importance of Florida forest products. Logs and timber were produced as needed for homes, fortifications, and plank roads. The Spanish also found that the forest yielded excellent timber for shipbuilding. Some Spanish officials recognized the potential for the production of navel stores, rosin, tar, pitch and turpentine, but little was done.

When the British came to Florida in 1763, they began to tap the products of the forest. They built at least one sawmill in Pensacola, and began exporting pine and cedar lumber, shingles, staves, and pitch. They also began to produce naval stores in East Florida. By 1782 fifty thousand barrels of tar, rosin, pitch, and turpentine were extracted from the areas surrounding the St. Johns and St. Mary's rivers. This continued for a time during the second Spanish period.

When Florida became an American territory in 1821, exploration of the forest resumed. The coming of the railroad changed the lumber industry. Sawmills now could be located away from the water and in stands of timber that before had been unreachable. Putnam and Clay counties were greatly dependent upon the timber industry. Green Cove Springs had several lumber mills, and their economy appeared to be based upon this industry along with tourism. When the timber was exhausted, the mills closed and usually the towns were mostly deserted and churches closed. This appears to have happened at Sharron in Clay County. Mr. Robbie Batten, a member of Lemon Heights Baptist Church in Palatka, grew up in Sharron, where he was a member of Salem Baptist Church. He said that the Shand's Lumber Company ran a train from Green Cove Springs to Sharron to pick up logs. Henry Batten ran a train for the Buddington Lumber Company to pick up timber for his mill in Green Cove Springs. The town died out when the lumber mills in Green Cove Springs closed down. Salem Baptist Church still has fifth-Sunday Worship Services.

Georgia-Pacific recently bought out the Hudson Pulp and Paper Mill in Palatka and is the largest producer of paper products in the area. The timber industry is the second largest industry in the state and should last for many more years and continue to provide for the economic and esthetic needs of man.

INDIANS AND THE SEMINOLE WARS

The Eastern Timucua were the first Indians to meet the white men when the French established Ft. Caroline on the St. Johns River east of Jacksonville in 1564. The Saturiwa, the best known of the Eastern Timucua, occupied the lower course of the St. Johns River and the coastal area from the mouth of the St. Mary's River to below St. Augustine. To the south of the Saturiwa were the Agua Dulce, or Freshwater Indians, who lived along the upper course of the St. Johns River and the coastal lagoons south of St. Augustine. In 1602, the Agua Dulce were reported to live as far south as Lake Harney on the St. Johns River, and as far west as Ocala, which also includes Palatka.

Unfortunately, the Timucuas could not overcome the problems posed by the Europeans. The majority of the Indians succumbed to warfare and various diseases brought by the white men. When the Spanish withdrew from Florida in 1763, only eighty-three Indians, thought to be almost all the remaining descendents of the North Florida Indians, accompanied them.

Since much of the country was left open to colonization, the tribes of Alabama, Georgia, and South Carolina began to move Southward to escape the pressure of advancing settlements.

Several tribes settled in central Florida. The Oconee appeared to be the first, settling south of what is now Gainesville. They were soon joined by other Indians who broke off from the loosely organized group known as the Creek Confederacy. These were soon called Seminoles, a name meaning "runaways." These were a mixture of Alachua, Mikasukis, Tallahasseees, and others. The Seminoles appear to be composed of two major groups. The Lower Creeks spoke Hitchiti and fused into the Mikasuki branch of the Seminole nation. The Upper Creeks usually spoke a different tongue, Muskoge, but all became designated as Seminoles. (The two modern Florida branches are still known as Mikasukis, of hunting and fishing tradition, and Muskogeas, primarily an agricultural people. All, however, are called Seminoles.)

Charles H. Coe said this about the Seminoles: "... consider that the Seminoles were far from being naturally a cruel and warlike people; that they had lived for many years on terms of peace with the white race, under both Spanish, English, and American rule, and all they desired ... were the simple rights which our Constitution guarantees to all men...."

When Spain ceded Florida in 1819, the United States recognized the rights of inhabitants in Article 6 of the treaty. Nothing in the treaty says, "except Indians." The United States met its commitment of extending to Florida's inhabitants "all privileges, rights, and immunities of the citizens" by first talking the Seminoles into the 1823 Treaty of Moultrie Creek, the creek being a meeting place near St. Augustine. This treaty, obtained by threats and bribery, forced the Indians to cede 28,040,991 acres and move into a Florida reservation consisting of 4,032,940 acres of poor land. The treaty was to have a lifetime of twenty years.

In 1832, however, before the Moultrie Creek Treaty ran out, the Seminoles were again persuaded by force and trickery to sign a new agreement at Payne's Landing on the Oklawaha River near Silver Springs, Florida. This document, a flagrant violation of the earlier Moultrie Creek Treaty, implemented Jackson's 1830 Removal Bill forcing the Indians to relocate west of the Mississippi. James Gadsden, of the Gadsden Purchase fame, presided over both treaties. Someone aptly said, "Gadsden giveth and Gadsden taketh away."

There were three Seminole Indian Wars. The first was in 1817-1818. It was fought mostly along the Apalachicola River in West Florida. The seeds for the second Seminole War, 1835-1842, the one that involves the area of our association, were sown at the Treaty of Payne's Landing. The third Seminole War, in 1855-1858, was fought in the Everglades.

Osceola (Asi-hoholo, which means "Black Drink Singer") was probably only a Hadjo, "a courageous warrior," or Hinijas, "a leader of a band," at the Treaty of Payne's Landing in 1832. When it came his turn to sign the treaty, he took out his knife and stabbed it and shouted, "This is the only treaty we will ever make with the white men." The Treaty still bears his mark.

The Second Seminole War took place mostly in central Florida and the area of our association. After the Treaty of Payne's Landing, Osceola emerged as a Tustenuggee (War Chief). When his wife was said to have been kidnapped by some white raiders, Osceola went to Ft. King and demanded justice from General Thompson. They would not listen to him; instead, he was arrested and thrown into prison and kept overnight. After his release he was extremely bitter and spent all of his energies on reprisals and revenge.

The intervening time between the Treaty of Payne's Landing and the actual fighting, Osceola was busy training his warriors for the conflict he knew would come. He spent much time at Ft. King watching the soldiers drill and realized the necessity for discipline. During this time the Seminoles stored food, powder, and shot in their secret hideouts in the Tsala Apopka Lakes along the Withlacoochee River in what is now Citra County. Although Osceola had no formal military training, he knew that one concealed Seminole was worth five white soldiers fighting in close order. During the time he led the Indians, he was able to hold off some of the best generals the army had at that time. Halleck Tustenuggee was responsible for devastating Palatka and keeping the area of our association in a constant state of alarm. Coacoochee (Wildcat), son of King Philip, who was chief of all the Seminole Indians east of the St. Johns River, operated south from St. Augustine to the headwaters of the St. Johns River. They carried their warfare to the gates of St. Augustine and for four years kept St. Augustine in a virtual state of siege, and all of northern Florida in constant terror.

There were several issues over which the Second Seminole War was fought. Three especially stand out. First, the Indians did not want to leave their homes in central Florida; second, they did not want to move west of the Mississippi and live among their old enemies, the Creeks, because the government still considered the Seminoles part of the Creek Confederacy; and third, the Indians did not want to give up the runaway Negroes that had moved among them. The whites wanted to return them to their former owners, and the Indians would not permit it. For this reason General Thomas Jessup said, "This is a Negro, not an Indian war."

On December 14, 1837, Osceola, Coacoochee, and several other Indians were taken prisoners while under a white flag at Ft. Peyton, near St. Augustine. Coacoochee and several others starved themselves until they were thin enough to escape through the barred windows. Osceola refused to escape, and was later transferred to Ft. Moultrie, South Carolina, where he soon died. Osceola's death did not end the war. Apiaka became war chief and the war continued until 1842. The Seminoles never admitted defeat. They had fought to retain their ancestral lands and to live unmolested in their own way in the Everglades. Some 3,824 Seminoles and Negroes had been relocated in Arkansas and Oklahoma. About 300 Indians settled in the Everglades. The descendents of these are living there today.

THE CIVIL WAR IN THE AREA

The Florida Secession Convention assembled in Tallahassee on January 3, 1861. After seven days debate, the Secession Ordinance was adopted on January 10, 1861. James O. Devall, the Putnam County delegate, voted in favor of the proposal.

Fort Marion (the Castillo de San Marcos) in St. Augustine was seized even before the convention reached the decision. Later on, all but a few cannons were taken from Fort Marion. Some of these cannons were sent to Fort Clinch at Fernandina; others were sent to various places to bolster defenses. Later, events from outside the state made it necessary to abandon all of Florida except Pensacola. Fernandina was occupied almost immediately by Federal Troops, and it was destined to remain under their control for the duration of the war. As the war progressed, Fernandina became a rest center for Federal Troops and a base for expedition along the Florida east coast.

Soon after the occupation of Fernandina, the Federals occupied Jacksonville, St. Augustine, and New Smyrna. St. Augustine later became a Union rest camp. Little attempt was made to enlarge the Federal-controlled territory around the city. The principal danger to Federal Troops in St. Augustine came from raids on work details and outposts by Captain John Jackson Dickison, a locally renowned leader of light cavalry. Toward the end of the war, St. Augustine was the base of Federal raids into interior Florida; but no major operation originated from the Ancient City.

One of Florida's largest contributions to the war effort was the raising of cattle, and some crops, especially corn; but the most important appears to be the production of salt. Salt was a necessity for preserving all meat, fish, butter, and other perishable foods. Salt was made by three methods: extracting the salt from saline artesian wells, boiling down sea water or water from inland salt lakes, and mining deposits of rock salt. The cheapest method for securing salt was boiling sea water until nothing was left but the salt. Much of this operation was done on the Gulf Coast, especially near the present city of Cedar Keys.

Captain Woodhull commented on Palatka in his report: "'The people are living in a most destitute condition. The corn crop is only about an average one.' It is clear that with only a few exceptions, the six hundred or more people of Palatka no longer resided there. Many went to Orange Springs, although places as near as Florahome were considered safe. No church, Baptist, Catholic, or Methodist, had a minister in July, 1862. They'd all either fled to the interior, or joined the military."⁴

The most important figure as regards to the confederate's operations in the St. Johns River Valley appeared to be Captain John Jackson Dickison. He was born in Virginia and moved to South Carolina and later to Florida in 1856, when he settled in Marion County. He served as a lieutenant in the Marion Light Artillery Company under Captain John M. Martin, but later resigned in May 1862, to form his own company of calvary. At first he was unsuccessful, but later his group became a part of the Second Florida Calvary. It appears that most of their activity centered in the area of our Association.

The greatest Civil War battle in Florida occurred at Olustee in what is now southwest Baker County. The battle, which took place on February 20, 1864, was a decisive Confederate victory; the Union forces withdrew to the St. Johns Valley. One unit, the Light Battery "C" of the Third Rhode Island Heavy Artillery, arrived at Palatka several days later. The Seventh Connecticut Volunteers also were stationed at Palatka after the fight at Olustee. During this time Fort Shannon was an important military installation in the area.

The Confederate surrender in Florida took place with the raising of the Stars and Strips over the Capitol at Tallahassee, May 20, 1865, marking the end of Confederate Florida. "So it ended. The dream failed and the issue settled. The Union mark had been made, even in the cemetery just north of Johnson, in western Putnam County, where ten Federal Troops were buried."⁵

THE ST. JOHNS RIVER VALLEY

The St. Johns River is perhaps the most important topographical feature of the area, if not for the whole of the peninsula of Florida. It flows about 300 miles northward from its source near Melbourne. William Cullan Bryant ranks it as "one of the noblest streams of the country."⁶

Neither the Mississippi nor the Nile exceeds the average expanse of the St. Johns between shore to shore for a full hundred miles above its mouth; and with corpulence, you would say, it combines laziness. Indeed, the fact that this river's gleaming, broad surface so much more frequently resembles the superficies of a lake than a moving current very long ago led the adjacent Indians to call the St. Johns "Welaka" -- which means The Chains of Lakes."⁷

A glance at a map of Florida will show that a large number of lakes cluster about this river basin, and the contents of many find their way into the St. Johns. The upper St. Johns River Basin is unique in many ways. The St. Johns River Basin is separated by a ridge of high ground from the Kissimmee Basin. Streams and sloughs form on this ridge and either flow toward the Kissimmee or the St. Johns. Water in the two basins flows in the opposite direction.

Beginning east of Melbourne, some twenty feet above sea level, the St. Johns flows through eight lakes and is immediately connected with five more. For nearly its entire length, it flows northward, as does an exceedingly few other rivers upon this planet. It is interesting to note that a tributary of the St. Johns, the Oklawaha, also runs north for the greater part of its length.

To start with, the St. Johns begins its northward course from out of the uncharted quagmires west of Melbourne. -It flows through Lake Hel'n Blazes and Lake Sawgrass, and widens into Lake Washington, moving sluggishly through Lake Winder and Lake Poinsett. After touching a chain of small lakes near Titusville, the river begins a turn, very gradually, toward the west in its still northward course, and flows slowly through Lake Harney.

As the St. Johns leaves Lake Harney, it turns due west; with a "form of irresolution"⁸ the St. Johns meanders past the head of Lake Jessup and moves east into Lake Monroe.

After moving through the west bank of this lake, the St. Johns, as though putting aside indecision, meanders no more; but sets forth sturdily with the north star as guide. From this point on, the St. Johns takes on the appearance and proportion of a river with channels of eight feet deep and an average width of a hundred yards.⁹

A few miles beyond Lake Monroe, the Wekiwa, which is the river's first tributary, enters the St. Johns. The Wekiwa begins in Orange County from a spring which bubbles up 48 million gallons of water daily, and twists its way northward through 15 miles of pine and hardwood upland and dense swamp-land ranging from 200 to 700 feet in width. Here one begins to encounter the water hyacinth. The water hyacinth was not known to the St. Johns, nor elsewhere in the United States, until 1884, when some plants were imported from Venezuela and exhibited at the New Orleans Cotton Exposition. A few samples were given to a Brooklyn, New York, woman who owned a winter home near San Mateo. She placed some in her private fishpond and later placed some in the St. Johns. Since there is no way to get rid of them, the water hyacinth still thrives in the river if left unchecked.

North of Lake Monroe, Blue Springs, Lake Beresford, and Lake Dexter break the monotonous shore line of the St. Johns. Twenty-five miles west of Daytona Beach, the St. Johns flows into the "largest and, as it were, the superb pendant of its chain of lakes, Lake George."¹⁰

At the north end of Lake George stands Drayton Island, the two thousand acres of which once formed the southern boundry of Zephaniah Kingsley's large seraglio and patriarched 90 mile long slave kingdom, both of which he attempted to keep fertile and contented with Biblical piety. Kingsley had been appointed by President Monroe as one of the thirteen members of the council to govern Florida. Kingsley, a man of small stature, was born in Scotland and emigrated to the United States, with his merchant father. Kingsley acquired in Spanish Florida a grant of more than three thousand acres. It is known that he prospered, and was still prospering flagrantly, in the slave trade not merely in the illegal fields of Florida and Georgia, but in more liberal Brazil and the West Indies also. By 1817, when President Monroe sent a military force into Florida to suppress the slave trade, Kingsley had established plantations on both sides of the St. Johns from its terminus as far south as Drayton Island, in Lake George.

Beyond Lake George the river is joined by its main tributary, the Oklawaha. The Oklawaha parallels the St. Johns for a distance of some fifty miles from its source of Lakes Griffin, Eustis, Harris, and Dora, in Lake County.

The east bank of the St. Johns is next broken by Dunn's Creek, which flows from Crescent Lake. The Bluff a bit further north of Dunn's Creek, where once Charlotta was located. It was founded by Denys Rolle, the Englishman who started a settlement there in 1765.

At Palatka, the St. Johns makes an elbow turn and extends its banks a full mile apart. Rafts of huge cypress logs towed down the river were cut here into lumber, in what is reported to be the largest cypress mill in the world. As the river completes this elbow turn, it passes by orange groves, the property of Colonel R. G. Cole, at Orange Mills, where in April 1870, General Robert E. Lee spent the night.

Opposite St. Augustine is the site of the old town of Tocol, terminus of the St. Johns Railway, which in the 1870's defied credibility by transporting the more heavy freight and all of the passenger traffic of the river steamers overland to St. Augustine upon wooden tracks not less than eighteen miles long. Beyond Tocol, on the west bank, the St. Johns flows past Green Cove Springs, Magnolia, and Hibernia. Beyond them is the mouth of Black Creek, the second largest tributary of the St. Johns. Black Creek gets its name from the extremely dark water which is a result of the tannic acid given off by the roots of the bordering bank vegetation. The Baptist Association that was formed by churches in Clay County in 1913 was named after Black Creek. The St. Johns passes Orange Park beyond the mouth of Black Creek, and its waves wash ashore at Picolata, Switzerland, Fruit Cove, and Mandarin on the east bank.

After the St. Johns passes Palatka, the last seventy miles average a mile in width. At Jacksonville, the river becomes a tidal outlet for some twenty-three miles, passing broad salt marshes and follows a tortuous course to its terminus in the Atlantic Ocean at Mayport.

The St. Johns has played important roles in the Seminole Indian War and the Civil War. During the Seminole War, 1835-1842, the St. Johns afforded the one means of transporting troops and supplies toward the impenetrable lairs of the Indians. The Essayon, the Camden, the Santee, and other small steamers were pressed into military service; blockhouses for the protection of river settlements were erected; and log forts bearing the names of Peyton, Gates, Butler, Florida, Kingsbury, and Mellon, fortified the St. Johns.

During the Civil War the St. Johns was blockaded by the Federal forces; but blockade runners were transporting cotton from the Oklawaha, up the St. Johns to Lake Harney, from where it was carted overland to the Atlantic coast near the present city of Titusville. The most famous of all the Blockade-runners connected with the St. Johns was the yacht America, the winner in 1851 of the international races held by the Royal Yacht Squadron around the Isle of Wight in England. She was sold to the Confederates and rechristened the Memphis. She was scuttled by her crew in Dunns Creek in order to avoid capture. The Union raised her, towed her north, renamed her America, and she entered the war as a part of the South Atlantic Blockade Squadron.

One of the most popular side trips for the St. Johns River tourist was a voyage up the Oklawaha upon one of Colonel Hubbard Hart's steamers to Silver Springs, or to Lakes Griffin, Harris, Eustis, and Dora. Hubbard L. Hart came to Palatka in 1854. His first enterprise was to conduct a stage line between Palatka and Tampa, through country so wild that a government guard was necessary. In 1860, he purchased a small steamer and began passenger service upon the Oklawaha. He first had to make the Oklawaha navigable by cleaning its deep twisted channel, and using quaint small boxlike steamers. His steamers were outfitted with a large iron basket which was filled with burning pine knots, from out of which, at night, burst flickering tall yellow flames to guide the ships slowly through the twisting river. When the Civil War broke out, Hart prudently allied himself with the Confederate cause; and he transported cotton to Lake Harney, where his cargoes were carried overland to the Atlantic coast and shipped by blockade runners to Nassau in the Bahamas.

After the Civil War, Hart resumed his attempts to navigate the Oklawaha. Two of his most famous ships to navigate the Oklawaha were the Hiawatha and the Okeehumpkee. Hart was killed by a street car in Atlanta, Georgia, in December 1895. His brother-in-law, R. L. Thompson, took over the steamship December 1895. His brother-in-law, R. L. Thompson, took over the steamship December 1895. His brother-in-law, R. L. Thompson, took over the steamship December 1895.

Mitchell said that "no Oklawaha boat could be called beautiful because the conditions under which they navigated condemned them to tall, chunky ungainliness."¹² Both Thompson and Lucas soon had a new opponent to fight, that of the internal combustion engine that was replacing the paddle wheels. The wood plank steamers were being replaced by iron and steel. These iron-sides were newer, faster, and cheaper. The Hart Line, managed by R. W. Thompson, kept up the struggle for awhile; but at last the Hiawatha and the Okeehumpkee were beached at Hart's Point in East Palatka in 1919, never to run again. The remains of the Hiawatha were burned in the spring of 1979 to make way for a condominium, the Okeehumpkee having succumbed earlier to the elements.

Increase in the number of steamboat lines operating upon the St. Johns produced keen rivalry; and races were very often conducted between steamers. Two men who were rivals for the steamer business were H. T. Baya, a descendant of an old Spanish family, and a northerner, John A. Post. Baya got into the steamer business by purchasing the Gazelle, a propeller driven steamer, and later adding to his fleet. The newest he named after himself, the H. T. Baya. Post brought to the St. Johns two large side-wheelers, the Eliza Hancock and the John Sylvester, and ran them between Jacksonville and Palatka. In a race from Jacksonville to Palatka, the H. T. Baya nosed out the John Sylvester. During the race the John Sylvester appeared deliberately to ram the H. T. Baya, which had just docked at Green Cove Springs. The H. T. Baya suffered extensive damage, but this was confined to the upper wheel house. There were no injuries, and since the damage was one well above the water line, the race continued on to Palatka.

The real heyday of the St. Johns River appeared to be the last quarter century from 1875 to 1900. The coming of the steam locomotive replaced the steamer as the primary means of transportation in the area.

CHAPTER TWO

CHURCHES OF THE ST. JOHNS RIVER BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

(Past and Present)

The St. Johns River Baptist Association, Inc., was organized in 1877 as the North St. Johns River Baptist Association. The earliest set of Annual Minutes that we have, are for 1879, when the Association met in its Third Annual Session at Shiloh Baptist Church of Clay County, October 18, 19, 20. The following were elected to office: E. B. Timmons, Moderator; James M. Fraser, Clerk; and J. W. Weathersbee, Treasurer. The Introductory Sermon was preached by B. W. Becks, pastor of the Osceola Baptist Church of Picolata. The following churches were represented: Bethesda, Palatka; Beulah, Fruitland; Bethlehem, Federal Point; Clear Water, Orange Springs; Decoy, Clay County; Enon, Palatka; Gadara, Clay County; Hickory Grove, Green Cove Springs; Osceola, Picolata; Peniel, Palatka; Paran, Grandin; Sardis, Hollister; Shiloh, Clay County; and St. Johns, Federal Point.

The churches in this chapter will be listed by the date they entered the Association and by the county in which they are located, alphabetically: Bradford, Clay, Flagler, Marion, Putnam, St. Johns, and Volusia.

BRADFORD COUNTY

Bradford County is one of the smaller counties in the State of Florida. It is primarily an agricultural area. The county was originally established in 1858, but was renamed in honor of the first Florida officer to be killed in the War Between the States. Captain Richard Bradford died in the battle of Santa Rosa Island on October 9, 1861.

By the time Starke was founded, about 1857, the Indians had mostly retreated from the area into the swamps and Everglades of South Florida. The original Indians to inhabit this area were the Timucuan. After the Timucuan, came the Seminoles, who were a branch off from the Creek Nation in Georgia and Alabama. During the Second Seminole War, 1830's through the 1840's, Fort Harrlee was established on the north side of the Santa Fe River to afford protection to settlers in the area from Indian raids.

The Minutes of the New River Baptist Church, founded in 1833, report that during the Annual Meeting, on November 27, 1835, an Indian alarm broke up the session and caused postponement of the feet washing.

The arrival of the Atlantic, Suwanee River and Gulf Railway in 1858 on its way from the Atlantic to the Gulf, started the city of Starke growing. The same year a stage line was established, connecting Starke with Waldo, Gainesville, Ocala, and other points south, so that passengers could leave the rail line here and continue their travels southward.

By 1884 the population of Starke had grown to six or seven hundred. A picture by some unknown artist shows 15 to 20 store buildings clustered around the railroad, two or three hotels, two churches (Baptist and Methodist), two schools (the Starke Institute and the Orange College), a railroad station, a couple of saw mills, and a cotton gin or two.

The winter of 1894-95 brought the "Big Freeze" to this area. By Mid-February practically every orange tree in the area had been killed to the ground. A few determined growers replanted, but only four years elapsed until another disastrous freeze came in 1899. This finished the job and convinced growers that the orange industry was better off farther south.

Due to the abundance of pure water and natural drainage, the county farmers today raise an abundant supply of corn, oats, hay, meats, vegetables and fruits. The principal manufacturing is related to the timber industry.

As far as we have been able to determine, we have had only one church from Bradford County belonging to the Association. The Heilbronn Springs Baptist Church, northwest of Starke, joined our Association in 1908. This name has been spelled in different ways down through the years, but this is the spelling given on the Bradford County Map. This church was in our Association from 1908 to 1909. It left the Association due to the distance from Starke to the other churches in the Association. It joined the New River Baptist Association after leaving our Association, but is now Independent.

CLAY COUNTY

Clay County, which lies in the northeastern area of the State, was established in 1858. Its eastern boundary is the St. Johns River. It was taken partly from Duval County on the north and Putnam County on the west, and was named in honor of Henry Clay. The Timucuan Indians were the first inhabitants of the area. The eastern portion is low and flat, consisting primarily of open pine woods with some oak. Rolling country is found to the west, however, where the elevation rises to heights of over 200 feet above sea level. Black Creek, a tributary of the St. Johns River and the largest of the numerous streams which traverse the county, has an average depth of 30 to 35 feet and is navigable by ships to Middleburg, where it divides into the north and south forks.

During the latter part of the nineteenth century, the great majority of the citizens of Clay County did not experience the plush times associated with the thriving resort towns along the St. Johns River. The plush hotels, restaurants, generously-stocked stores of Green Cove Springs did not have much influence on the lifestyle of the rural population. And Clay County was overwhelmingly rural throughout the period 1870 to 1920.

One of the main areas of growth during these years was the community that was to be named Middleburg. It was probably so named because it was located midway between the forks of Black Creek. It was also about halfway between Jacksonville and the rich cotton lands to the south, and was located on the main overland route for all of northeastern Florida. In addition Middleburg was a junction point for Jacksonville and St. Augustine, and ocean-going ships had no difficulty in navigating Black Creek as far as the forks. With this location, it was inevitable that a thriving town would appear as soon as the Indian troubles were over.

By 1840, steamboats were operating on a regular basis between Jacksonville and the Black Creek area. Side wheelers plied among Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, Middleburg, and Palatka and Sanford to the South. Wagons rolled into Middleburg with cotton, crossties, and lumber to be loaded and shipped north. Since these ships were wood-burning vessels, piers stacked high with wood soon appeared on the St. Johns and Black Creek.

Green Cove Springs became a tourist center, people being attracted there by the hotels, casinos, and the many springs. It also became a large lumber-industry town and large riverport. But by the 1920's the plush times ceased. Due to improved rail transportation, tourists were going further south. The interior regions of the county experienced a period of prosperity, but without the glamour of the river towns. New communities appeared and disappeared; farming, timber, naval stores, and mining flourished; roads and railroads expanded. But for the most part life was not affluent as it once was for the people of Clay County.

It is of interest to know that small quantities of gold have been panned in Goldhead Branch, located six miles from Keystone Heights. This gold probably came from the ancient rocks of the Piedmont Plateau. Florida's First "highway," known as Bellamy Road, also passed through Clay County on its way between Florida's two capitals, St. Augustine, in East Florida, and Pensacola, in West Florida. The road took its name from John Bellamy, who supervised the construction of the first 200 miles from the St. Johns west to the Ochlocknee. Part of this road still exists in the southeast corner of Clay County, and forms part of the boundary of Clay and Putnam counties.

Several churches from Clay County once belonged to the St. Johns River Baptist Association. These churches are Black Creek, Black Pond, Decoy, Doctor's Inlet, Duck Pond, Evergreen, Gadara, Green Cove Springs, First, Hickory Grove, Laban, Liberty, Middleburg, First; New Hope, Oak Grove, Salem, Shiloh, and Union.

The first annual meeting of the Association that we have record of met at the Shiloh Baptist Church in Clay County, October 18, 19, 20, 1879. Other Clay County churches that belonged to the Association in 1879 were Decoy Baptist Church in south Clay County; Gadara, located near McRae, in southwest Clay County; and Hickory Grove Baptist Church, which appears to be the first Southern Baptist Church in Green Cove Springs. At the present time Hickory Grove is known as the First Southern Baptist Church of Green Cove Springs, to identify it from the First Baptist Church of Green Cove Springs, which became Independent in 1970.

Through the years several other churches from Clay County have joined the Association. Evergreen Baptist Church of Wilderness, located near Belmore Road on State Road 21, joined in 1880. The Union Baptist Church, also located in the general area of Belmore Road, joined in 1890. The First Baptist Church of Green Cove Springs also joined in 1890. It was first known as the Second Baptist Church, but it later changed its name to First Baptist Church. It became Independent in 1970. New Hope Baptist Church joined in 1890, and consolidated with Labon Baptist Church, which joined in 1893 to become the Black Creek Baptist Church in 1895. This church is located on State Road 16. Oak Grove Baptist Church, located on State Road 215, joined in 1894. Salem Baptist Church of Sharron, in the southern part of Clay County, joined in 1896. The First Baptist Church of Middleburg joined in 1899, and Shiloh Baptist Church was reinstated in 1904. Liberty Baptist Church and Doctor's Inlet Baptist Church joined in 1905. Black Pond Baptist Church and Duck Pond Baptist Church both joined in 1906. Salem Baptist Church was reinstated in 1912, and requested a letter of dismissal in 1913. Oak Grove Baptist Church was reinstated in 1913. The last church from Clay County to join our Association was the Orange Avenue Baptist Church of Green Cove Springs. It joined in 1960.

Corinth Baptist Church joined our Association in 1891, but we have no idea where this church was located. D.W. Glisson of Clay County was listed as pastor when it joined the Association. He was listed as pastor in 1891 and 1904, when it reported to the Association. This church was probably located in Clay County.

Almost all the churches in Clay County eventually left our Association and joined the Black Creek Baptist Association, which appeared to have been organized in 1913 and 1914. The Gadara Baptist Church eventually joined the New River Baptist Association, Decoy Baptist Church became Independent in 1965, and the First Baptist Church of Green Cove Springs became Independent in 1970. Orange Avenue Baptist Church joined Black Creek Baptist Association in 1969.

It appears that most of our Associational mission work in the 1880's and early 1900's centered in Clay County. In 1903 a concern for the area north of Middleburg led our Association to talk with a committee from the New River Baptist Association about maintaining a missionary on the field together, but the idea was abandoned when the person who was to do the work became too ill and a replacement could not be found. In 1905 a great work was started at McGirts Creek Station, where several were converted to the Lord. The mission board also helped the work at Duck Pond Baptist Church, Middleburg Baptist Church, Black Pond Baptist Church, Orange Park Station and Doctor's Inlet. In 1906 the Association provided $2.00 per month to the pastors at Liberty Baptist Church, Black Pond Baptist Church, Maxville Baptist Church, and Clayhill Baptist Church. The last two churches mentioned never did join St. Johns River Baptist Association.

FLAGLER COUNTY

Flagler County was established as a county in 1917, and named in honor of Henry M. Flagler, who played an important role in the development of Florida's east coast, principally through the building of the Florida East Coast Railroad. The county seat is Bunnell, which is named after Alva A. Bunnell, who founded the city in 1880.

Major crops of Flagler County are palms, tung nuts, and timber. The principal manufacturing is wood and wood products. Bulow Plantation State Historical Site is located nine miles southeast of Bunnell. All that is left today of the once-famous Bulow Plantation are extensive conquina ruins of the great sugar mill, several well preserved wells, a unique spring house, and the crumbling foundations of the formerly grand mansion Bulowville.

Historians have surmised that French Huguenot Jean Ribaut's Flagship, one of four vessels cast up on the coast of Florida by what was probably a hurricane in 1565, floundered in the general vicinity south of the town of Flagler Beach.

Three churches in Flagler County have belonged to the St. Johns River Baptist Association in past years. In 1918 the Espanola Baptist Church of Espanola joined the Association. Espanola is a small community about two or three miles northwest of Bunnell. The church reported to the Association 1918-1921. We have no word as to what happened to this church. The Flagler Beach Baptist Church joined our Association in 1923, and remained with it until 1966, when it joined the Halifax Baptist Association. The First Baptist Church of Bunnell joined our Association in 1926 and remained until 1966, when it joined the Halifax Baptist Association. In 1979 it rejoined our Association.

MARION COUNTY

There were two churches in our Association from Marion County. Both of these churches were from Orange Springs. The Clearwater Baptist Church belonged to us in 1879, the first year that we have records showing the churches that belonged to our Association. The Orange Springs Baptist Church joined our Association in 1950, and remained until 1952, when it probably joined the Marion Baptist Association. Marion County was established in 1844, and was named in honor General Francis Marion, famed as the "Swamp Fox" of the Revolutionary War. Marion County is one of the most important counties in state agriculture, but it is also a leader in limerock mining. Major crops produced in the county are citrus, corn, a variety of truck crops, water-melons, cantelopes and also livestock. Marion County is nationally known for raising horses. Principal types of manufacturing include food products, lumber and wood products, and clay and glass products.

The first known inhabitants of what is present-day Marion County was a tribe of peaceful Indians known as the Timucuans. The territory of these estimated 15,000 Indians covered the north and central part of Florida.

Ponce de Leon encountered these tribes when he discovered Florida in 1513. In 1768 the Seminole Indian and other tribes were given most of the interior of Florida, and many of them settled around the Oklawaha.

Marion County played an important role in the Second Seminole War. Fort King, located just north of Ocala, played an important role in that war. The first shots were fired there as Osceola led a group of Indians against the fort to kill General Thompson, and then rushed south to join in the massacre of Dade's troops south of Bushnell. The Treaty of Payne's Landing took place in Marion County just east of Orange Springs on the Oklawaha.

In 1846 the present site of the county seat was settled and was named Ocala in honor of the former Timucuan province of Ocali.

The Oklawaha River flows northward for over thirty-five miles through the entire length of Marion County from its source in Lake County near Leesburg, before curving east and flowing into the St. Johns River south of Palatka, in Putnam County.

PUTNAM COUNTY

Putnam County was established in 1849, and appeared to be named after General Benjamin Alexander Putnam, a lawyer and Seminole War Soldier. The county was the scene of several Civil War battles when federal gunboats came down the St. Johns River. Graves of Union soldiers have been found in the community of Johnson in west Putnam, as the results of some battles being fought in the area. Palatka was used as a Federal headquarters during portions of the Civil War.

The first attempt to establish a permanent English settlement in Putnam County came in 1767, when Denys Rolles acquired 20,000 acres from the government and attempted a settlement near what is now East Palatka.

The Timucuan Indians were the first inhabitants in the county. The Seminoles later replaced the Timucians in the area. The name Palatka comes from the Seminole Indian word Pilo-Taikita, which translated (Pilo) means "boat" and (taikita) "ford or crossing."

The St. Johns River has played a tremendous role in the development of Putnam County and the city of Palatka, but with the coming of the railroad its importance diminished.

The Seminole Indian War came to Putnam County when friction between whites and Indians became so acute that the federal government became determined to remove the Indians from Florida to newly-formed reservations in Oklahoma. A treaty was negotiated at Payne's Landing on the Oklawaha River May 9, 1832. At the time Chief Jumper and six other tribal chiefs agreed to examine land in Arkansas with the view of choosing it as a future home for their people. They went to Arkansas and in March, 1833, signed an agreement to settle there. Congress ratified the pack in 1835, and decreed that the migration should take place the following year. However, the Indians, advised by Micanopy, Alligator, and other chiefs, refused to leave their homes on the grounds that the treaty had not been approved by their tribal council.

Due to the conflict with the Indians, the government established Fort Shannon, a large army and military stable in the area now occupied by the post office, city hall, and public library in Palatka.

According to the Florida State Gasetteer and Business Dictionary, Vol. 1, 1886-1887, Palatka had a population of 4000; Norwalk, 500; Satsuma, 125; Pomona Park, 40; Fruitland, 40; Georgetown, 250; Drayton Island, 75; Crescent City, 300; Grovedale, located 20 miles southeast of Palatka, 50; and Oak Villa, 10 miles northeast of Palatka, 50.

The major crops in Putnam County are citrus, potatoes, cabbage; and the major types of manufacturing include paper, food products, and furniture. The area is called the "Bass Fishing Capital of the World." High quality citrus fruits are grown in the county, and clay mining forms another valuable industry for the residents.

The first Baptist church to be established in Putnam County was the Peniel Baptist Church, which was organized on July 19, 1852. Rev. S. T. Stansland and Rev. Silas Weeks officiated as ordained ministers of the Gospel, making up the presbytery. They led in constituting the church. The names of five who were the first members when the church was constituted were John A. Osteen, David Osteen, Rachel Osteen, Nancy Osteen, and Mary Smith. The first to be baptized into the church were Bryant Osteen and a black man of Bro. Weeks', named Jesse. The church became affiliated with the Alachua Baptist Association; but in October 1860, it withdrew from the Alachua Baptist Association to join the Santa Fe River Baptist Association. In September, 1877, the church withdrew from the Santa Fe Baptist Association to join the North St. Johns River Baptist Association.

Paran Baptist Church of Grandin was organized the first Sunday in October 1856. It is the second oldest church in our Association. It was organized by Elders E. B. Timmons, William Johnson, and M. N. Strickland. These three elders also organized the Eliam Baptist Church of Melrose. Rev. E. B. Timmons, the first pastor of Paran, served the church as pastor for several years. He also helped organize our Association, serving as the first moderator. The original records of Paran Baptist Church were lost when the home of Rev. M. N. Strickland was destroyed by fire.

In November 1878, the Associational Mission Board voted to act on a letter from Rev. E. B. Timmons, offering his services to the Association as a missionary. The Board resolved to employ him as a missionary and collecting agent for a part of his service, at a dollar per day, provided he could collect it upon the field. He failed to collect the expense money and the Association voted to pay him from whatever money was left over at the end of the year. In 1881 Rev. Timmons and Rev. M. L. Dyess worked the Etoniah (Georges Lake) mission field, even though the Association could not afford to pay them for their services.

Rev. E. B. Timmons ran a store at what is now the intersection of State Road 100 and State Road 26 in Putnam Hall. He died August 22, 1888, at the age of 76. He is buried in the Melrose Cemetery. Several members of his family, including his wife, son, S. E. Timmons, and others are buried with the Walls in Paran Baptist Church's cemetery at Grandin.

The first organized work in South Putnam County took place in the area adjacent to the St. Johns River in the Fruitland Peninsula. The first organized Baptist church in the area is the Beulah Baptist Church, which was organized in 1873, at Fruitland. The 1860 census for the Fruitland Peninsula had sixty-six households and 317 people. The peninsula was first settled in 1840. Fruitland, which was settled in 1877, had a school, Baptist and Methodist churches, a sawmill, and three stores. Land sold for $20 to $50 per acre, and Mr. S. R. Causey was the postmaster, general merchant, and steamboat agent. Georgetown, a few miles further south, was much larger with a population of 250. The area was served by the DeBary-Baya Merchants Line Steamer, which had two steamers daily to Jacksonville and three south to Sanford. Oranges, vegetables, fish, and lumber were the principal exports. Georgetown claims to be the oldest town on the St. Johns River, having been settled in 1840.

In the 1867 Annual Minutes of the Alachua Baptist Association, Beulah Baptist Church is listed as having 21 members. Rev. J. M. Hayman was pastor. The property on which the present church is located on Beulah Church Road was bought January 1, 1874. The trustees were F. E. Reeves, C. A. Koger, B. F. Shook, William Perry, and Jerry Wingate.

Other Baptist churches in the area included the Norwalk Baptist Church, of Norwalk, which was across the St. Johns River from Welaka. Norwalk had a population of 500 in the late 1880's. It had a public school; Baptist, Congregational, and Methodist churches; a saw mill; four stores; a blacksmith shop; and a carriage factory. It also had a landing on the St. Johns River, where it was served by the DeBary-Baya Merchants Line Steamers. Sion Baptist Church was located in Nashua, on the east side of the river, near where the Acosta Creek flows into the St. Johns River just north of Turkey Island.

The Lake Como Baptist Church was organized February 22, 1881, with the Rev. A. B. Robinson as pastor. The Rev. Mr. Robinson had been hired by the Association to be a missionary to the Fruitland Peninsula in 1881.

The First Baptist Church of Crescent City was organized into a church August 10, 1907, when Dr. Earl D. Sims of Nashville, Tennessee, came to Florida to do some evangelistic work with the Florida State Mission Board. A revival was held in the high school auditorium in which several people joined. Among those joining were Mrs. Will J. Braddock, Mr. T. C. Darby,

Mr. S. A. Kinard, and Mr. James Padgett, Sr. In the late 1880's Crescent City had a population of 300. It had two hotels, a private and a public school, a steam saw mill, four general stores, one grocery, two drug stores, a livery stable, and a weekly newspaper--the Weekly Gazette. The town was served by the DeBary-Baya Merchants Line, which entered Crescent Lake through what is now Dunn's Creek.

The Satsuma Baptist Church was organized in 1916. It joined the Association in either 1917 or 1918. The Annual Minutes of 1917 are missing, and the church is first listed in 1918 with Rev. E. M. C. Dunklin as pastor.

The First Baptist Church of Pomona Park was organized on November 24, 1926. Mr. W. E. Mew, a life-long Baptist, dreamed of having a Baptist church in Pomona Park, and gave a large sum of money toward the creation of the new church. Others also gave, and after they borrowed $700 from the State Convention, work was started on the new church. The following joined on November 24, 1926: Mr. and W. E. Mew, Mr. T. D. Mew, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Thomas, Mrs. Sarah Wells, and Addis Bryant. Rev. Brandon of Crescent City was called as the first pastor.

Calvary Baptist Church of Welaka was started as a mission in 1956. It was organized into a church in 1974, and is now the First Baptist Church of Welaka.

The Baptist work in the western part of Putnam County was started in Edgar. It was called the Roscola Baptist Church, which joined the Association in 1908. Nothing is known about this church as to its location. There is a record in the Putnam County Clerk's Office about a German Baptist Church that was located in Keuke, in the 1880's. The Edgar Baptist Church was built by the owner of the Edgar Mining Company for the people in the area to use for worship. This church disbanded and became the nucleus of the Woodlawn Baptist Church of Johnson. Ochwilla Baptist Church is located on State Road 21 in West Putnam County. This church has never been a member of the St. Johns River Baptist Association, but is a member of the Santa Fe River Baptist Association. The Woodlawn Baptist Church of Johnson joined the Association in 1947. The Interlachen Baptist Church joined the Association in 1949. Rodman Baptist Church of Rodman joined the Association in 1908. It was disbanded when the Rodman lumber mill burned down and the town closed. Sardis Baptist Church in Hollister was one of our strong churches for many years and may have been one of the original churches in the Association. It was listed in the First Annual Minutes of the Association. It disbanded after a split over whether or not to enlarge its facilities. The First Baptist Church of Hollister (now Independent) was organized following the split at Sardis, and joined the Association in 1954.

The First Baptist Church of Palatka was organized February 6, 1870, and joined the Association 1898. The Bethlehem Baptist Church and the St. Johns Baptist Church, both of Federal Point, were listed in the Association in 1879. The Providence Baptist Church joined the Association in 1889. Bostwick joined in 1898, and was reinstated in 1903. Hebron Baptist Church of Etomiah, near Georges Lake, joined in 1887, and was last heard of in 1899. Bethany joined in 1900, and Florahome in 1901. The Annual Minutes are missing from 1913 to 1920, and during that time Macedonia joined the Association. The following churches in Putnam County were added through the years: Palatka Heights (Hillcrest), 1921; San Mateo, 1926 (a San Mateo Baptist Church was listed in the Association in 1890 with B. B. Hamilton as pastor, and in 1891 with O. R. Tucker as Clerk); Lemon Heights, 1926; East Palatka, 1929; Francis, 1933; Calvary of Palatka, 1940; Midway, 1943; New Hope, 1954; Tabernacle, 1955; Southside, 1960; Faith, 1965; Florahome (reinstated), 1965; College Park, 1965; Trinity, 1968; River Road, 1969; St. Johns, Palatka, 1978; and Georges Lake, First, 1979.

ST. JOHNS COUNTY

St. Johns County is located in Northeastern Florida, and fronts on the Atlantic Ocean. Its western boundary is formed by the St. Johns River, and the county gets its name from that river. St. Augustine, the county seat, is the oldest city in the United States. The area of present-day St. Augustine was first visited by Ponce de Leon in 1513 in his quest for the "Fountain of Youth." In 1565, Pedro Menéndez founded the settlement on the same site, making it the oldest town of continuous existence in the country. St. Augustine was fifty-five years old by the time the first pilgrims came to New England.

St. Augustine, because of its antiquity and history, its many points of interest, and its proximity to the excellent beaches along the Atlantic Ocean, is an important tourist center. Once guarding the city of St. Augustine against Spanish enemies, the Castillo de San Marco recalls an important part of Florida's exciting heritage. For generations this fortress stood as a symbol of the one struggle among European nations for the control of Florida and the new world. In addition to the Castillo de San Marco, the Spanish built Fort Mantanzas to guard the southern approach to St. Augustine. The deciding scenes of the Spanish and French struggle for Florida occurred within and near Fort Mantanzas, where in 1565, about 300 French Huguenots were put to death.

St. Johns County and Escambia County were the first two counties formed in the State of Florida on July 21, 1821. Most of the other counties of the State were formed from these two.

Tourism, agriculture, industry, and the sea are the vertebra in the backbone of the St. Johns County economy. The historic city of St. Augustine has over a million visitors annually. Potatoes, cabbage, forest products, and livestock are among the county's big crops in agriculture. St. Johns County leads all other counties in Florida in the production of potatoes and cabbage, and the city of Hastings is known as the Potato Capital of Florida. Agriculture is strongly affected by the proximity of the St. Johns River and the Atlantic Ocean, which help to keep a temperate climate. The mean temperature of the county is 70 degrees, and the average rainfall is 50 inches. Shrimp trawler building is natural to St. Johns County due to a population long accustomed to drawing a living from the sea.

Picolata, Switzerland, and Tocol were once ports of call for vessels steaming up and down the St. Johns River. Hastings has been an important agriculture center from its very beginning.

The Baptist work in St. Johns County appears to have been led by the Osceola Baptist Church of Picolata. The church was a member of the Association in 1879, when they met in the Third Annual Session at Shiloh Baptist Church. Osceola may be one of the original churches in the Association.

On January 20, 1887, eighteen concerned Baptists, living in St. Augustine, came together for the purpose of organizing a church. They could not call theirs the "First Baptist Church," because that name had been claimed by the first congregation of Baptists to organize into a church in St. Augustine. A congregation of black Baptists formed their church in 1872. Appropriately the new congregation called theirs "The Ancient City Baptist Church." Henry M. Flagler, Florida developer and financier, offered the church a proposition. He offered the church a corner lot, valued at $5,000.00, if the church would erect a building within two years, to cost not less than $10,000.00. The church accepted the challenging offer and raised $15,000.00 to build their house of worship. On February 10, 1895, the first services were held in the Sunday School rooms. The building was dedicated free of debt on February 2, 1896.

The Switzerland Baptist Church came into the Association in 1894. It reported to the Association in 1894 and 1895. It dropped out of the Association, but was later listed as a member of the Black Creek Baptist Association. The Mount Olive Baptist Church of Hastings entered the Association in 1881, followed by the First Baptist Church of Hastings in 1915. Calvary Baptist Church of St. Augustine joined the Association in 1934, and the McDowell Baptist Church of St. Augustine joined the Association in 1949. White Castle Baptist Church of St. Augustine joined in 1959. This church later changed its name to Nine Mile Baptist Church, and became Independent. It has since changed its name back to White Castle, and has rejoined our Association. Westside Baptist Church of St. Augustine joined the Association in 1959. It later changed its name to Southside Baptist Church, and then changed it to Baptist Temple. It is either disbanded, or has become a member of another denomination. Millcreek Baptist Church of St. Augustine joined the Association in 1962, but is now Independent. St. Johns Baptist Church of St. Augustine joined the Association in 1970, but is now Independent. Anastasia Baptist Church, located on Anastasia Island, St. Augustine, joined our Association in 1974.

VOLUSIA COUNTY

Further to the south in Volusia County several churches joined our Association. Volusia County was established in 1854, but there appears to be a considerable amount of question as to the origin of the county's name. Some say it was named after an early settler named Volus, and some say that it was traced back to an early French or Belgium trader named Veluche and that the present name is a corruption of that name. At any rate, Volusia County was first settled by Franciscan Friars who established missions there in 1587. The earliest mission was located at what is now Daytona Beach. The county seat is located in Deland. The major crops of the county are timber, truck farming, and citrus.

Tomoka State Park was once the site of the Indian Village Norcoroco, where much early Spanish, British, and American history was written.

Like St. Johns County, Volusia County is fronted by the Atlantic Ocean on the east and the St. Johns River on the west. Blue Springs State Recreation Area is located on the St. Johns River two miles west of Orange City. Blue Springs has the second largest springs in Florida. The 72-degree temperature of the spring has attracted a group of Manatees (Sea Cows) which annually migrate to the park during the winter months. In the spring they return to the St. Johns River.

Stetson University is located in Deland. Organized in 1883, it has played a major role of preparing preachers and laymen who have served effectively in the St. Johns River Baptist Association and in other areas of our Baptist work throughout the world.

Several churches from this county have played an important role in the Association. They are Spring Grove, Spring Garden, Seville, Barberville, Daytona Beach, and New Smyrna.

The Spring Grove Baptist Church of Emporia joined the Association in 1881, the Seville Baptist Church and the Spring Garden Baptist Church joined in 1886, and the Barberville Baptist Church joined in 1890. The Spring Garden Baptist Church disbanded on September 26, 1921, and organized into the DeLeon Springs Baptist Church of DeLeon Springs. In 1897 the Daytona Beach Baptist Church joined the Association, and in 1908 New Smyrna joined.

CHAPTER THREE

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE ANNUAL MINUTES BY DECADES 1879-1979

This chapter is composed of the highlights of each Annual Session of our Association. I sought to take the most important events that occurred or were reported in those minutes. This includes the names of those elected Moderator, Clerk and Treasurer. The new churches that entered the Association, and the new pastors that came into the Association.

I have grouped the decades into four periods that, due to various national and international events, tend to be similar. These periods were 1879-1909, 1910-1929, 1930-1949, and 1950-1979.

Each period has an introduction which includes national and international events, followed by the highlights of each year. The statistics for each year are in the appendix.

PART ONE

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE ANNUAL MINUTES 1879-1909

INTRODUCTION

The Florida Baptist Convention was organized on November 20, 1854, near Madison. The delegates from the existing associations, Florida, West Florida, and Alachua, met in the home of Richard Johnston Mays to organize the convention. Among the delegates at that meeting was Rev. J. M. Hayman, who was at one time pastor of the Beulah Baptist Church of our Association.

These were turbulent times in our state and in the area of our Association. The people were still trying to recover from the devastation caused by the Second Seminole War, slavery, the War with Mexico, and the unrest that led to the Civil War. It was during this time that the Peniel Baptist Church was organized in 1852, Paran Baptist Church in 1856, and Beulah Baptist Church in 1862. Franklin Pierce, James Buchanan, and Abraham Lincoln served as presidents during this time. The Civil War and Reconstruction played an important role in the area. At the beginning of the war a large proportion of the white adult male population was brought into action through public opinion, and a little later, by a rigid conscription law. Florida was to play an important part in the war by supplying the South with beef and salt.

Far reaching events were also taking place on the international level that would affect the world. The Communist Manifesto of Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels in 1848 marked the advent of "scientific socialism." Its importance at the time was slight, and its basic ideas were later developed at length in Marx's "Capital." In 1859 "The Origin of Species," by Charles Darwin, probably the most far reaching work of modern biology, was written. In 1865 an obscure Austrian Monk, Gregory Mendel, whose work was rediscovered much later, experimented on the cross-breeding of peas, and revealed the mechanics of heredity.

Locally, the first recorded meeting of the North St. Johns River Baptist Association met at the Shiloh Baptist Church of Clay County October 18, 19, 20, 1879. The Association was first called the North St. Johns River Baptist Association. Although there is no record of any action deleting the word "North" from the title, the Constitution of the 1881 Annual Minutes leaves the word "North" out of the title of the Association.

This was a time of beginning and growth. From 1877 to 1909 the Association grew to 29 churches. The largest increase appeared to have taken place in 1890 when 13 new churches were added to the Association over the previous year. But on closer examination only three new churches were added by petitionary letters: Union Baptist Church, Clay County; Green Cove Springs Second (later First); and New Hope Baptist Church of Clay County, which later combined with Laban Baptist Church of Clay County to form Black Creek Baptist Church.

This period is marked by strict church discipline. A total of 632 persons were excluded during this time. The highest number being excluded was 64 in 1909. During this same period 248 were restored to fellowship. The highest number of restorations, 24 took place in 1886. In the report of the spiritual condition of the churches in our Association in 1909, "We find from reports of the various churches in our Association that there have been added to the churches 231. Expelled from the churches, 44. A difference of 187 in favor of additions. This would seem to be encouraging, and if all were truly converted then indeed God's Holy Spirit has truly been with his people." Evidently these figures did not include churches whose letters were turned in late, since there is a difference in the statistical pages. I asked Rev. R. V. "Buddy" Hogarth about the practice of excluding people from the churches. He said that some of the churches had a conference once a month and some had it every three months. When the church had business and a member did not attend, they thought he didn't care. He was called on the floor and if he repented, it was all right; if not, he would be voted out. There were also other reasons for voting people out of the churches. If a person drank whiskey or ran around with women or men, as the case may be, or went to jail, he was voted out. Mr. Hogarth said that one of the reasons why this practice was finally discontinued was that when a man was voted out of the church, his whole family would often leave too; and it appeared to have no lasting effect.

Glisson was to work the St. Johns mission for one week per month for nine months; Dr. A. H. Robinson was called as missionary on the Fruitland mission. The Etoniah mission did not have a missionary, but E. B. Timmons served there part-time. The following pastors came into the Association in 1881: William Carlton, Sardis; R. W. R. Moseley and J. J. W. Place were new pastors who came into the Association during this period. (The First Baptist Church of Palatka joined the Association during this period between 1882 and 1885. The Annual Minutes for 1883 and 1884 are missing, and we have no record of those two years.)

1886 - The Ninth Annual Meeting of the St. Johns River Baptist Association met at the Spring Grove Baptist Church of Volusia County, Florida, October 16, 17, 18, 1886. B. W. The petitionary letters were read from First Baptist Church of Seville and from the Spring Garden Church, both from Volusia County. D. W. Glisson was employed by the Missionary Board to alternate his work between the St. Johns Mission, which is in the Fruit Cove area, and the Etoniah Mission. Two new pastors came into the Association this year: J. D. Bohannon, pastor of Spring Garden, and William E. Stanton, pastor of the Norwalk Baptist Church.

The Mission Board reported that the Association set aside $2.00 per month for some of the weak churches in the Middleburg area, providing the churches would use the $2.00 per month to pay the pastor that they had called. The request was granted. Petitionary letters were received from Crescent City Baptist Church and Hilburn Baptist Church of Bradford County. Crescent City was received, but the request from Hilburn was delayed until a committee appointed by the Moderator could investigate the circumstances surrounding Hilburn's request. It appeared that there were some hard feelings between Hilburn and some other churches in the area, so for the sake of harmony they applied for membership in our Association. The request was granted and they were voted into our Association. The following pastors came into our Association during the year: R. M. Care and W. P. Jackson.

disappear for a year or so and reappear again without any explanation. Hilburn Baptist Church of Bradford County is spelled Heilbron in the statistical page. (It is spelled Hillburn on the Bradford County map) The following pastors came into the Association this year: A. L. Abercrombie and F. M. Strickland. A resolution was offered by J. P. Wall and adopted after some remarks by J. P. Wall, A. L. Abercrombie, R. N. Gate, J. M. Fraser, and W. W. Williams. It reads as follows: "Whereas, there is a baneful and injurious habit growing in our country known as Coca Cola drinking, 'Therefore, Be it resolved, That we Caution our members in the several churches about this habit, that undermines their moral and temperate life.'"

PART TWO

HIGHLIGHTS OF ANNUAL MINUTES 1910-1929

INTRODUCTION

This era began with William Howard Taft as President. He was a man of ability and high character. In 1910 the President recommended establishing a system of postal savings in connection with the post office. The Parcel Post Law was passed August, 1912, and became operative on January 1, 1913. Mr. Taft made a noble effort to bring about conditions of peace among the nations. In the election of 1912, Theodore Roosevelt organized the Progressive Party, which caused a split in the Republican Party, and Taft lost to Woodrow Wilson.

The international situation during the early part of this period was involved in the events that led to World War I. Just how World War I affected the churches of the Association is hard to determine by the Annual Minutes. The Annual Minutes for 1917 are missing. None of the Annual Minutes for 1910-1919 recorded Training Union, Brotherhood, or W.M.U. The giving for Associational Missions dropped considerably. Foreign Mission giving dropped between 1916 and 1918. Baptisms dropped from 103 in 1916 to 48 in 1918.

The Republican Convention met in Chicago, June 8, 1920, and on the tenth ballot Warren G. Harding was nominated. The Democrats met in San Francisco on June 28, 1920, and on the forty-fourth ballot James M. Cox, Governor of Ohio, received the nomination. The League of Nations, not in the least a partisan question, became the leading issue in the campaign which Harding won. Harding served for two years and five months before he died, and Calvin Coolidge became President. In 1924 Coolidge was elected President, but in 1928 he did not choose to run for reelection.

This period of history of our Association began with the loss of eight churches reporting by letter and messengers to the Annual Meeting. In 1910 the Committee on Report on Publications reported a lack of information that hurt the unity of the work and suggested that the Baptist Witness be sent to every home. In 1911 the Association had 23 churches and only 15 Sunday Schools. In 1924 the report on the Spiritual Condition of Churches listed 20 churches with a total of two thousand members. Fourteen churches reported having Sunday Schools. Six churches had no Sunday School at all. Someone said, "Certainly this is not a sign of spiritual activity." The report on giving implies that some churches gave nothing at all.

The temperance report is similar to the temperance reports given each year. The people were warned of things that were destructive to both body and mind: intoxicating drinks, tobacco, coffee, unsound literature, and some forms of dress. Temperance reports throughout this period continued to warn the people against drinking.

E. M. C. Dunklin was elected during the period to serve as Associational Missionary. He served from 1918 to 1922. Efforts were made to maintain W.M.U. work in the various churches. It met with little success. No reason was given for this lack of interest in the woman's work in the Association. The United States entered World War I, April 6, 1917, and American troops began landing in France June 26, 1917, and fought until Germany signed the armistice November 11, 1918. I found no reference to the war in any of the Annual Minutes during this period. However, the Annual Minutes for 1917 are missing.

The great $75,000,000 drive proposed by the Southern Baptist Convention created an interest in the Association in 1919. This money was to be raised in five years, and all the churches were encouraged to give liberally to this cause.

The Association began this era with 21 churches listed in the statistical pages of the 1910 Annual Minutes. In 1919, 16 churches are listed as members of the Association. The main reason for this drop in the membership of the Association was the organization of the Black Creek Baptist Association in Clay County. By 1921, the first Annual Minutes of the Twenties, only a few Clay County churches were listed as members of our Association: Decoy, Green Cove Springs First, Gadara, and Shiloh. Decoy and Green Cove Springs, First, later became Independent. Gadara joined New River Baptist Association in 1925, and Shiloh, which last reported to the Association in 1929, joined Black Creek.

The 1926 Evangelistic Brotherhood report reported two revival meetings, one at Sardis and the other at the Carraway School house. "Sardis was left in fine spiritual condition, and a church was organized at Carraway." The Brotherhood held some meetings at Pomona Park, and with the help of Bro. Mew began to "agitate" the erection of a house of worship. Bro. Mew offered the land and some of the financial help, and a church was established. They have also added Welaka to the list of places to preach.

McRae was elected Clerk, and W. J. McRae was elected Treasurer. Rev. F. M. Hall of Hastings passed away March 31, 1911. Report on the spiritual condition of the churches suggested that the spiritual condition of the churches was very low. They gave three reasons: (1) There are too many churches that have preaching only one Sunday in the month. The membership gets cold and indifferent, too much time for worldly cares, and too little time for worship. (2) Commercialism has got its grip on the world and has invaded the churches so much that the brethren are racing for the dollar that they may add more to their possessions in this world. (3) The style and fashion of the day receives far more attention, more means and more honor than the church of Christ. The following pastors came into the Association during the year: Leon D. Burdick, R. F. Davis, John A. Saunders, and H. W. Fribble.

After my writing to his relatives, the following was received: "Elder D. W. Glisson joined the Baptist Church, Mount Sinai, in Bradford County, 1887, and was soon afterwards ordained to the ministry, and continued in the work for the Master. Among those places to whom we recommended aid were: Palatka Heights, Lemon Heights, Gardara, Satsuma, Bethany, Bunnell and Espanola. Although our State Board was unable to supply the amounts asked for from all these places, we feel that great good has been accomplished. PART THREE

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE ANNUAL MINUTES 1930-1949

INTRODUCTION

The Thirties and Forties were marked by two great tragedies--the Depression and World War II. Herbert Hoover was elected President in 1928. He was Secretary of Commerce under Coolidge. Hoover was a great engineer. At the age of 23, he got a job as an engineer in a London company gold mine in Australia. After less than two years in Australia, Hoover accepted the post of chief engineer for the Chinese Imperial Bureau of Mines. After the Boxer Rebellion, the Chinese government discontinued its Bureau of Mines; and Hoover moved to London, England, where he established his own engineering firm. In 1914 U. S. officials asked Hoover to aid the thousands of Americans stranded in Europe to get home. In August, 1914, the U. S. ambassador in London asked Hoover to organize food relief for Belgium. From October 1914, to April, 1917, he gathered and distributed food, and helped raise relief funds. His commission saved many thousands of lives.

On coming into office, Hoover believed that the problems of government could be solved by scientific methods and by blueprint measurements, as in the case of an engineer. He did not seem to consider the human element. Of the great problems of the time, none was solved during his four years in office. When Mr. Hoover proposed any measure that he thought important, the Progressives in Congress would join with the Democrats and defeat it.

America went on a financial rampage during the "Coolidge Prosperity." The large cities built great sky-scrapers, many of which would never pay for the huge outlay. The steel industry, the utilities, department stores, mail-order houses, and many kinds of business reached a pinnacle of success they had never known before. But the acme of the nation-wide orgy was found in the stock market. The steady rise in the price of stocks from 1927 caused many people to buy stock and a few days later sell it at a profit. Thousands of persons had borrowed money to pay for stocks. Many made fortunes on paper. Then came the crash. The great panic reached its height late in October, 1929. Many stocks dropped to half or a third of what they had been a month before. The victims of Wall Street lost their purchasing power; great numbers of honest people who had bought goods on the installment plan could no longer pay. Merchants had to take back goods they thought they had sold and add to their overstocked warehouses; then they cut down on their orders from the wholesaler and the factory; these had to discharge many of their employees. Then came the Great Depression.

The election of 1932 matched Herbert Hoover against Franklin D. Roosevelt. Roosevelt swept the country, and brought in the New Deal. President Roosevelt was reelected for three more terms.

The Italian attack on Ethiopia in the fall of 1935 awakened an interest in international affairs. The League of Nations pronounced Italy the aggressor and imposed sanctions on that country.

On September 1, 1939, Poland was invaded by German forces estimated at 1,700,000 men. On September 3, 1939, Britain and France declared war on Germany; and on September 27, 1939, Germany, Italy, and Japan concluded a Three-Power Pact. On December 7, 1941, the Japanese opened hostilities on the United States with a surprise attack on Hawaii, the Philippines, Guam, Midway Island, Hong Kong, and Malaya.

The United States declared war on Japan December 8, 1941. After a long and costly campaign of retaking many of the islands captured by the Japanese, the first atomic bomb was exploded on July 16, 1945, near Alamogordo, New Mexico. Within a few weeks, American planes helped bring World War II to an end by dropping atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Japan.

Out of the horrors of each world war came an attempt by mankind to prevent war forever. The first attempt was made after World War I with the creation of the League of Nations. But the League failed to settle many postwar problems. It was also powerless to prevent a rising tide of aggression by Japan, Italy, and Germany during the Thirties. The second attempt was made toward the end of World War II with the establishment of the United Nations. Since 1945, the UN has worked for international peace and security in two chief ways. First, the UN has provided a meeting place where nations can discuss their quarrels peaceably. Second, the UN has conducted worldwide programs to help nations solve problems of health, food shortage, and social justice.

In 1933, according to the first Annual Minutes of this period, the Association consisted of 26 churches. Four of these churches were from Clay County: Decoy, Cadara, Green Cove Springs, First, and Shiloh. Ten of these churches had services every Sunday. Eight churches reported services one Sunday a month, and eight churches did not send in a church letter.

It is hard to see how the depression affected the churches during the Thirties. The mission giving was not broken down by Association, State, Foreign, and Home missions until 1949; but the average mission giving was low in comparison to the Forties. The average mission giving for the Thirties was $3030 for the seven years that we have records. The average mission giving for the Forties was $21,741 for the ten years.

The only record that any Brotherhood work was going on in the Association was for 1939, when only four churches reported having Brotherhood. There was a total enrollment of 93 for that year. The Associational Brotherhood in 1938 reported that in almost every church there was a number of potentially strong men who, at the present, were not active in the affairs of the church or of the denomination. "How can we harness this vast unused power for the winning of a lost world for Christ?" is the problem that will require the best thought to find an adequate solution. The Associational Brotherhood is contending for three things: (1) That the men of the church support their pastor by constant prayer, loyalty, and their means. (2) That the men of the church promote the entire program of the church. (3) That our laymen accept a larger share of responsibility in the direction of the affairs of our denomination.

In 1943 Mt. Olive Baptist Church reported being the only church with a Brotherhood. They had twelve members, and met twice a month. In fact, they were the only church to have a Brotherhood in 1942, 1943, and 1944. No church reported a Brotherhood in 1945. Calvary Baptist Church of Palatka was the only church to report a Brotherhood in 1946 and 1947.

From 1935 through 1939 an average of fourteen churches reported having W. M. U. In the Forties an average of fifteen churches had W. M. U. It wasn't until 1946 that the Annual Minutes gave the total enrollment for the W. M. U.

In 1939 a report of interest was the report on "The Hundred Thousand Club." This was a movement started in 1933 by the Southern Baptist Convention for the purpose of paying the principal on our Southwide debts. The idea was to secure 100,000 persons who would agree to pay one dollar per month each month until the debts were liquidated. Since the plan started, in some states it was made to include state debts as in Florida, where the Southern Baptist Convention gave on a fifty-fifty basis. This meant that 50 percent of our gifts were applied to the southwide debts, and 50 percent were applied to state debts. This plan helped to reestablish our state convention's credit at the banks, strengthen the morale, and even save some of our institutions.

In 1933, the first year of the Thirties that we have Annual Minutes, twenty-six churches were on our roll. Of these churches, ten reported having worship services every Sunday. Eight churches did not send in their church letters. In 1939 thirty churches were on the roll. Fourteen churches reported having worship services every Sunday.

The Association began the Forties with thirty-one churches. Fifteen of these churches met every Sunday. Six churches had service twice a month. Eight churches did not send in their church letters. Of the churches reporting, seven reported being city churches, two reported being town churches, eleven reported being village churches, and seven reported being country churches.

The Foreign Mission work was, of course, greatly hindered in Europe and the Near East during the war, and in Japan it was not allowed at all. But in the areas from which the missionaries were not cut off, things looked encouraging.

HIGHLIGHTS OF ANNUAL MINUTES 1950-1979

INTRODUCTION

On the international level one by one, the vast European empires collapsed after World War II. Great Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, and other large colonial powers had been weakened by their losses during the war. They could no longer hold to their colonies by force. Furthermore, many Europeans had come to believe that it was morally wrong to rule other people against their will.

The most striking and rapid independence movement took place in Africa. In 1950, there were only four independent countries on the vast African continent. By 1970, Africa had more than forty independent countries. In Asia there were also many new independent governments established after World War II. Most of the newly independent nations had been under the rule of colonial powers for many years, even for centuries. The new nations faced many problems as a result of years of colonization. But they had been brought in contact with the chief elements of western progress--education, advanced technology and medicine, and new agricultural and industrial methods.

The challenge of Communism shaped much of history during the 1900's. Communism's goal is to replace all governments with Communist dictatorships. The Communist movement exploded with full force just after World War II ended. Ever since, the democratic nations of the world, led by the United States, have fought the spread of Communism. By the 1960's, however, Communist dictatorships had been established in Eastern Europe and the Balkans. Communist governments also ruled China--the largest country of Asia, and several other Asian nations.

The United Nations has been a battleground of the Cold War almost continuously. The United States depends on the UN to settle most Cold War disputes. But Russia tries to weaken the authority of the UN. The Korean War (1950-1953) was the first war in which troops of a world organization acted as police to fight an aggressor nation. On February 16, 1959 Fidel Castro became premier of Cuba, and brought Communism to the shores of the Western Hemisphere.

The Vietnam War began in 1957, when forces supported by Communist North Vietnam began attacking the government and its officials in South Vietnam. The United States' participation in the Vietnam War became one of the most divisive foreign policy issues in United States history. Americans disagreed on both the objectives and the strategy of U. S. involvement. The cease-fire resulting from negotiations was formally signed on January 27, 1973. Final U. S. withdrawals began, and American and South Vietnamese prisoners were freed.

The Space Age began in this period of our Association. On October 4, 1957, the Russians launched Sputnik I, the first artificial satellite to circle the earth. The first manned space flight was made on April 12, 1961, when Russian Cosmonaut, Yuri A. Gagarin, orbited the earth in a space ship. The next month, U. S. Astronaut Alan B. Shepard, Jr., made a fifteen-minute space flight, but he did not go into orbit. On February 20, 1962, John H. Glenn, Jr., became the first American to orbit the earth. He made three revolutions.

Man first set foot on the moon on July 20, 1969. Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong stepped out of the Apollo XI lunar module, named Eagle, and climbed backward down a metal ladder. At 10:56 p.m. E.D.S.T., Armstrong put his left foot on a rocky lunar plain called the Sea of Tranquility.

Since our first landing of a man on the moon there have been several other lunar landings, and interplanetary and planetary probes throughout the Seventies and on into the Eighties.

The Presidents who served during the Fifties, Sixties, and Seventies were Truman, Eisenhower, Johnson, and Nixon.

The Fifties began with thirty churches in our Association, and twenty-five churches reported having worship twice on Sunday. Macedonia reported having only evening services, Providence and Beulah reported having services twice a month, and three churches did not report. In 1960 the Association had thirty-six churches and one mission, Calvary of Welaka. All the churches had worship services every Sunday. In 1970 the Association listed thirty-five churches and two missions, Anastasia of St. Augustine, and Calvary Mission of Welaka.

The Associational Brotherhood grew from three churches reporting Brotherhoods in 1950 to eighteen churches reporting Brotherhoods in 1979. In the Fifties an average of eight churches reported Brotherhoods with an average enrollment of 174. This record improved to an average of fourteen churches reporting Brotherhoods in the Sixties, with an average enrollment of 425. An average of seventeen churches had Brotherhoods during the Seventies, with an average of 432 enrolled. The Royal Ambassadors came under the Brotherhood in 1955.

The Associational W.M.U. had an average of twenty churches reporting W.M.U.'s with an average of 1,516 enrolled. This record increased in the Sixties to twenty-six churches reporting W.M.U.'s, with an average enrollment of 1,742. In the Seventies, twenty-eight churches had W.M.U.'s, but the average attendance went down to 1,135.

The Associational Sunday School had an average enrollment of 56,691 in the Fifties. It grew to 73,603 in the Sixties, and dropped to 65,888 in the Seventies. During this period we had an average of thirty-two churches in the Fifties, thirty-eight in the Sixties, and thirty-six in the Seventies. The loss of several churches in the late Sixties and early Seventies may have caused the lower averages in the seventies. The following churches left the Association during this period: Bunnell, First, in 1965, to join the Halifax Baptist Association (rejoined in 1979); Flagler Beach, in 1966, to join Halifax Baptist Association; Orange Avenue of Green Cove Springs, in 1969, to join the Black Creek Baptist Association. Then Green Cove Springs, First, left to become Independent in 1970; Hollister, First, left to become Independent in 1973; and Southside (Baptist Temple) of St. Augustine withdrew in 1977, and later disbanded. Macedonia of Palatka and Millcreek of St. Augustine became Independent in 1965, and Decoy also became Independent in 1965.

The Life and Work Curriculum was introduced in our Sunday School in 1966. In 1970 our Association and Black Creek Baptist Association banded together in a joint missionary program; and Dick Roberts, Associate with the State Sunday School Department, was elected Superintendent of Missions. The district was approximately 130 miles long and 52 miles wide. Dr. John L. Pelham, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Palatka, was elected President of the Florida Baptist Convention November, 1975. The following pastors received recognition for their outstanding work from Stetson University: Dr. John L. Pelham, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Palatka, was elected Urban Minister of the Year in 1972; Rev. R. V. "Buddy" Hogarth (now retired), pastor of Providence Baptist Church of Palatka, was elected Rural Minister of the Year in 1977; and Rev. Harry Varnadoe, pastor of Francis Baptist Church of Palatka, was elected Rural Minister of the Year in 1978.

In July 1978, 127 people from our Association spent eight days in Jamaica for revivals and Bible Schools. They represented fifteen churches and formed fourteen teams, with a pastor heading each team. This was the beginning of our Association's involvement in Jamaica. This work has been carried on by the various churches of our Association up to the present. Most of the work has been done in the Ocho Rios area. This work has grown during the years to involve churches from other associations in the state.

1952 - The Seventy-Sixth Annual Session of the St. Johns River Baptist Association met at Woodlawn Baptist Church of Johnson, Florida, October 14. G. L. Brooks was elected Moderator and Davis C. Woolley was elected Clerk-Treasurer. The W.M.U. reported that a special gift of $30 was given to the Southern Baptist Convention to be presented to "our Nigerian boys." The amount reported to our Children's Home was $72 and boxes valued at $48. Some of our societies sponsored children at the home, furnishing their clothes and the necessary things. Nearly 3000 coupons were sent during the last half of the year. The following pastors came into the Association this year: Russell Blank, Bobby Collins, W. O. Collins, J. R. McClellan, Virgil Price, Earl B. Simmons, John Temoshekuk, and Earl Willis.

1953 - The Seventy-Seventh Annual Session of the St. Johns River Baptist Association met at the Lemon Heights Baptist Church of Palatka, Florida, and the First Baptist Church of Bunnell, Florida, October 13 and 14. G. L. Brooks was elected Moderator and Gail Smith was elected Clerk-Treasurer. The report on Evangelism spoke about the great emphasis of "A Million More In Fifty-Four," echoing and reëchoing throughout the length and breadth of our convention. The Sixth District of the Florida Baptist Convention is composed of three Associations: Santa Fe, New River, and St. Johns River. The following pastors came into the Association this year: Nelson Allen, W. W. Lavender, H. K. Masteller, Leonard Melton, J. A. Parker, George Prom, E. W. Ware, and Everett Watkins.

1954 - The Seventy-Eighth Annual Session of the St. Johns River Baptist Association met at the First Baptist Church of East Palatka, Florida, and the First Baptist Church of Hastings, Florida, October 14, 15. H. K. Masteller was elected Moderator and Gail Smith was elected Clerk-Treasurer. The Associational and District Missions Report was given by Rev. Marvin V. Stedham. Mission District Number Six of the Florida Baptist Convention consists of three associations; namely, the St. Johns River, New River, and Santa Fe River associations. Approximately five counties are covered with this district, with a population of 130,599 - as of the 1950 census. We had as of October 1, 1953, 75 churches with 17,558 members. This is an average membership of 230 per church. "'One out of every six people in Florida are [sic] already Baptist.' THAT means 23,333 Baptists are here in our district. Suppose we take one-half of 116,667 that are left. We have 58,334 prospects, along with the 23,333, and we have 81,667 total prospects in District Six. Now we already have 17,558 members, leaving us a total of 64,100 new prospects yet to be reached. This is enough to build 277 new churches with the same average of 230 members. Think of 75 groups of 1,866 people each. These, we suppose, are not saved nor enlisted. This is 3.7 times more to be added to what we have. Certainly Jesus must have been looking down through the years when He saw these 64,109 people here in our Mission District Six, when He said, 'Go out into the highways and hedges and compel them to come in that My house may be filled'"

(Luke 14:23). The following pastors came into the Association during the year: Jim Cason, M. L. Greer, Thomas J. Powers, Alton Stephen, Eddie Willis, and W. W. Wilde. The First Baptist Church of Hollister and the New Hope Baptist Church of Palatka were added to the Association this year.

Wilde said, "Every person must have the Bible in his own language if the Word of God is to speak to his heart." The following pastors came into the Association this year: H. R. Carter, Charles O. Phillips, Armando Silverio, Eabert Sweat, Milton Tucker, Curtis Waters, Earl Willis, and Mihale Zalampas. The Tabernacle Baptist Church of Palatka was added to the Association this year.

Stewart R. Clark was elected Moderator, and V. J. Major was elected Clerk-Treasurer. Petitionary letters were received from the Westside Baptist Church of St. Augustine and the Mill Creek Baptist Church of St. Augustine. There is no record of any action being taken on these churches in this meeting, but Westside appears in the statistical pages of these Minutes. Article 4 of the Constitution and By-Laws states that a church petitioning for membership in the Association must be approved in two consecutive meetings of the Association. In the Minutes of the April 2, 1962, Executive Committee, D. R. Wilkes moved we accept the request of the Mill Creek Baptist Church and the Westside Baptist Church of St. Augustine to come under the watch care of the Association. Motion was seconded and passed. This may well be the first reading of the petitionary letters from these two churches. In the 1963 Annual Minutes we have the second reading on the petition from Southside. It appears that Mill Creek dropped out of the Association after a year or so and became independent; Westside changed its name to Southside and remained in the Association for several years before it disbanded. It was also known as Baptist Temple. The following pastors came into the Association during the year: Jose Cardoso, Paul D. Carmichael, Ray Crawford, John B. Hall, J. D. Kesterson, Ira Ramey, Alton Stephens, and Willie C. Thomas.

He pastored churches in Ohio, Indiana, North Carolina, Kentucky, and Florida. R. V. Hogarth, Chairman of the Petitionary Letter Committee, read a letter presented for the second reading from the Southside Baptist Church of St. Augustine: "I'm writing in regard to our church formerly the Westside Baptist Church. We have changed the name now the Southside Baptist Church which is located at 76 South Whitney Street in St. Augustine, Florida. We also now have a new pastor, Rev. R. L. Pringle, Sr. Rev. R. O. Walden was our pastor when it was Westside Baptist." This letter was written by Mrs. Joseph Boothe, Church Clerk. Rev. Hogarth also read a letter from the Florahome Baptist Church: "We, the Florahome Baptist Church, have met in conference and have voted unanimously to petition for membership in the St. Johns River Baptist Association. We would like to cooperate fully with the Association and the Southern Baptist Convention in every way possible." This letter was written by J. M. Thompson, pastor. Rev. Hogarth made a motion "that the Westside Petitionary Letter be accepted and the church be admitted into the fellowship of the St. Johns Baptist Association and that the Florahome Baptist Church Petitionary Letter be received for the first reading and they be accepted into the Watch Care of the St. Johns River Association." John B. Hall was elected Moderator, Ed Straner was elected Clerk, and Fred Tumlin was elected Treasurer. The Annual Minutes were dedicated to Rev. and Mrs. Marvin V. Stedham, and in Memory of Dr. Henry Mangum, who died August 23, 1965. Rev. John Pelham gave the Petitionary Letter Committee's Report from the First Baptist Church of Palatka, for the College Park Baptist Chapel:

"Our mission is being organized into a church on September 12, 1965, and would like to petition for membership in the St. Johns River Baptist Association. This petition of membership was duly passed in our regular business meeting September 8, 1965." Letter was signed by John Eubanks, Clerk. Rev. V. J. Major spoke of the Decoy Baptist Church's withdrawing fellowship from our Association, and moved that they be dropped. His motion was seconded. Following some discussion, Rev. John B. (Decoy Baptist Church, located in Clay County a few miles north of the Putnam County line, appears to have been one of the original churches in our Association.) The following pastors came into the Association during the year: James W. Browning, Virgil Gardner, Max Hall, C. L. Kirkland, and Robert L. White.

B. E. Humes was elected Moderator, Ed Straner was elected Clerk, and Fred Tumlin was elected Treasurer. The Lemon Heights Baptist Church completed their new sanctuary with its dedication service being held on June 12, 1966. The modified colonial structure cost $134,000. The Peniel Baptist Church of Palatka completed its sanctuary with the dedication service being held on February 22, 1967. Construction cost was $93,000. The Ninety-Second Annual Minutes were dedicated to the Crusade of the Americas. Trinity Baptist Chapel was constituted into a church on June 9, 1968. The Petitionary Letter Report was given by Rev. John B. Hall, who read a letter from the Trinity Baptist Church petitioning the Association for membership. The letter was not received in time to comply with Article 5, Section 3, which states: "When a mission sponsored by one of our cooperating churches for a reasonable time, is organized into a church, it may be admitted into the Association by a petitionary letter filed with the Petitionary Letter Committee at least thirty days prior to any regular session." During the Semi-Annual Meeting of the Association, April 11, 1972, held at the Trinity Baptist Church, the Petitionary Letter Committee Report given by Jiles Lunsford stated that his committee had received a letter from the Anastasia Baptist Church of St. Augustine, asking for admission into the Association. Before being constituted into a church, Anastasia was a mission of Ancient City Baptist Church. After reading the Constitution and By-Laws, Rev. Mr. Lunsford said the committee recommended that Anastasia Baptist Church be received into the Association, and he moved to that effect. The motion was seconded. Carried. Ancient City Baptist Church will celebrate its 85th Anniversary on November 19, 1972. They could not call their church the First Baptist Church because that name had been claimed by a congregation of Negro Baptists who formed their church in 1871. Appropriately, this new congregation called theirs the Ancient City Baptist Church. It was organized on January 20, 1887. The following new pastors came into the Association this year: James Eusey, Swinton Futch, Carl W. Hunter, T. Edward Samples, Kenneth Tanner, W. O. Willham, Bobby Christmas, and Jesse Wooten.

Stedham, who passed away on Wednesday evening, December 5, 1973, after having conducted

Prayer Meeting at the First Baptist Church of Interlachen. He was stricken while outside the church and passed away shortly afterwards. Bro. Stedham was a kind and gracious man. He had a way of reaching people through high charm and wit. He usually had a humorous story or illustration for almost every occasion. Until the end, he was busy doing the work of the Lord. He had fought a good fight; he had finished his course; he had kept the faith. Calvary Baptist Church of Welaka petitioned the Association for membership. Rev. V. J. Major moved that they be accepted. The motion was seconded by W. O. Willham, pastor of the sponsoring church, the First Baptist Church of Hastings. Rev. J. D. Kesterson passed away May 20, 1974. The motion was seconded by Harry Varnadoe. They were told that we would offer assistance to the Bethsaida Baptist Church, and that they demonstrate during this year that they comply with our Constitution and By-Laws. "We further recommended that the Bethsaida Baptist Church demonstrate their earnest desire to become a part of our Associational activities by contributing to the cooperative work of Southern Baptists." The following new pastors came into the Association during the year: James Blevins and Webster Hand.

1976 - The One Hundredth Annual Session of the St. Johns River Baptist Association, Inc. met at the First Baptist Church of Palatka in an evening session October 14, 1976, and in a morning and afternoon session at the First Baptist Church of Interlachen, October 15, 1976. Pelham, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Palatka, was elected President of the Florida Baptist Convention in its 114th Annual Meeting in Sarasota, November 1975. They are not having services, and they wish to withdraw their petition for membership in the fellowship of this Association. Our Association sponsored a World Mission Conference jointly with the Black Creek Baptist Association during the week of February 6-13, 1977. Thirty-two of our churches participated, along with twenty from Black Creek. Carl Franklin gave a brief report on the mission to Ocho Rios, Jamaica, that he and Carson Brittain, Swinton Futch, and George Kirkland went on this past summer. They had 73 professions of faith during the mission tour. Rev. Mr. Franklin said that the Association is planning a similar mission to Jamaica in July 1978. The Petitionary Letter Report was given by Swinton Futch. He reported that a new work at Georges Lake in the western part of Putnam County wants to come into the Association, but at this time we are not certain if they have been constituted into a church. The St. Johns Baptist Church of Palatka, meeting in the recreation center at St. Johns Harbor, has petitioned the Petitionary Letter Committee for membership in the Association. The Petitionary Letter Committee recommended that the St. Johns Baptist Church be considered for membership in our Association. "Buddy" Hogarth upon completion of 44 years in the active pastorate. His pastorates include the First Baptist Church of East Palatka, Francis, Woodlawn, Decoy, Trinity, and Satsuma Baptist Churches, all located in our Association. Other pastorates were the Southside Mission in Sanford (now Central Baptist Church), Hope Church and Beulah Church in the New River Baptist Association, and Ochvilla Church in the Santa Fe River Baptist Association. The Petitionary Letter Committee recommended that St. Johns Baptist Church of Palatka be admitted into the Association. This motion was by Dr. Swinton Futch. The motion was seconded by John B. Hall. It carried. Dr. Futch announced that the First Baptist Church of Georges Lake, Florahome, voted last October 5, 1977, to join our Association, but failed to send in a Petitioning Letter requesting membership. He had a verbal statement, but no letter requesting membership from them. It was decided after some debate to go by Article 5, Section 1, from the Constitution and By-Laws, requiring a church to be approved for membership for two consecutive years. The technical problem was discussed with representatives of the Georges Lake Church and the Petitionary Letter Committee accepted their letter for admission as the first letter, and will vote to receive them at the Annual Session in 1979. The Jamaican Mission Report was given by Carl Franklin. He said that 127 people from 15 churches in our Association spent eight days in Jamaica in July, 1978. Bible Schools and revivals were held in Ocho Rios, Walkerswood, Orange Park, Epworth, Coral Gate, Exchange, Perry Town, Grace, Jacks River, Hamilton Mountain, Hopewell, St. Anns, Lime Hall, and Liberty. Dr. Loessner is a former Professor and Dean of Religious Education at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville, Kentucky. They "retired" to Lake Como, February 1, 1977. Since retiring, they have joined the First Baptist Church of Crescent City, and he has been Associational Sunday School Director. They plan to move to Portland, Oregon, in July 1980, where he will be Administrator and Professor at the Portland Center of the Golden Gate Theological Seminary. The Petitionary Letter Committee Report was read by V. J. Major. He moved that the First Baptist Church of Georges Lake be accepted into the Association. The motion was seconded and carried. Rev. Mr. Major read a Petitionary Letter from the First Baptist Church of Bunnell, and then read a recommendation from the Petitionary Letter Committee recommending that the church be received into the Association. His motion was seconded and carried. This church is a former member of the Association, and comes from the Halifax Baptist Association. The Jamaican Mission Report reports that 156 people from 16 churches in the Association went to Jamaica to conduct VBS and revivals in July 1979. There were 898 professions of faith and 438 rededications. The following pastors came into the Association during the year: Hollis Bass, Vernon Johnson, Leon T. Odom, and Warren Thompson.

EPILOGUE

Several important events have happened in our Association since 1979. On December 10, 1979, the Association took a giant step forward when we considered purchasing a piece of property on the corner of Crill and Laurel in Palatka for an Associational office. The property used to be a service station. A triangular piece of land 240 x 152 x 154 feet, it has a small building which we have made into an office. The value of the property is $29,500, though we were able to purchase it for $11,000 and taxes of $153.03.

Mrs. Francine McNett was hired as Associational Secretary in a specially called business meeting on November 17, 1980. Mr. Herbert McGlammer, formerly an associate with the state convention Sunday School Department, was called as Interim Director of Missions on February 9, 1981.

Also on February 9, 1981, Dr. Bobby Musselwhite moved that our Association acquire the services of Dr. James Goodson, new Director of the Missions Division of the Florida Baptist Convention, to lead us in an overview study of our churches and communities in our Associational area. The churches participating in this project did a Church Profile Data Sheet and a Church Ministries Sheet. Dr. Goodson got Don Mabry, Consultant from the Home Mission Board, to help him survey Flagler, Putnam, and St. Johns counties for population, growth trends, and projections. Mr. Mabry met with several of our Associational leaders and pastors at Lake Yale Baptist Assembly Grounds, and went over this information. Through this meeting we were able to define several goals for our Association.

In the annual meetings of 1980, 1981, and 1982 offices to be filled by election were moderator, clerk, and treasurer of the Association. Dr. John Pelham was elected moderator in 1980 and 1981, and Rev. Carl Franklin was elected moderator in 1982. Mr. Franklin later moved out of the Association and Dr. William Pope became moderator. Rev. Edward M. Straner was elected clerk in 1980, 1981, and 1982. Mr. William Cotton was elected Treasurer in 1980 and 1981, and Mrs. Francine McNett was elected treasurer in 1982.

A new church to enter the Association since 1979 was the Whitecastle Baptist Church of St. Augustine in 1980. The First Baptist Church of Palm Coast was organized into a church on March 27, 1983, and will petition the Association for membership at the Annual Meeting in October 1983. This church was a mission of the First Baptist Church of Bunnell.

The Jamaican mission has continued to the present time. It has grown each year. This year people from as far away as Kansas will go to Jamaica with the group from our Association.

Several new pastors have come into our Association since 1979. In 1980 the following came: Kenneth Best, Larry W. Knowles, William L. Pope, Ray Sullivan, and Robert L. White. In 1981 the following came into the Association: Michael Baggett, Howard L. "Jakie" Carmicle, R. Kenneth Gaskin, A. L. Grant, E. C. Harvey, T. L. Holten, Sr., Louis Humes, Leon D. Hurley, Loy King, Ronald P. Moore, Mike Mott, and Ted Rodda. The following came into the Association in 1982: Barney Andrews, Woody Graves, Charles Litzel, Tim Phillips, and Tommy Stowe. The following pastors came into the Association in 1983: Frank Ayers, William Bennent, Steve Swaringen, W. T. Newsome, Jr. and Frank Grecio.

The Faith Baptist Church became Independent in 1980 and withdrew from the Association.

Rev. John B. Hall, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Crescent City, passed away October 17, 1979. He was born in Shelbyville, Kentucky. He served as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Crescent City, from June 1962 to October 17, 1979.

Thirteen copies of the Annual Minutes are missing. They are: 1877, 1878, 1883, 1884, 1888, 1917, 1918, 1920, 1925, 1927, 1930, 1931, and 1932.

The Pastors of the Association (1879 - 1979)

The following is a list of the pastors that have served in the St. Johns River Baptist Association. This list is compiled from the Annual Minutes of our association from 1879 to 1979. Because several copies of the Annual Minutes are missing, not all the pastors who served churches in this Association are listed here; but great care was taken to make this list as correct as possible.

Some difficulty was encountered in trying to determine if a pastor with the same surname was the same one mentioned in previous years. This was due to the different spellings of the name and the use of initials instead of using his given name. In some copies of the old minutes the print was faded and it was difficult to make out the initials. Every effort was made to make this list as correct as humanly possible.

The names of the pastors are listed alphabetically.
