mained unmarked for many years. The church placed a simple marker on her grave a few years ago. It would have been a shame if future generations didn't know she had been here.

Gladys Starling Murphy is the other Priscilla. She also provided lodging for the pastor and many visiting preachers. She too played the piano during a time when piano players were hard to find. Later her daughter Wilma took her place. At one time she took the pastors wife into her home and nursed her during an illness. She moved out of the community several years ago but visits the church occasionally.

The church has two deacons, H. L. and J. C. Prevatt. Both have served many years. J. C. Prevatt is also the church sexton.

Many have thought that Pleasant Hill was on the way to oblivion. God has not seen it thus. He has up-held his church for a hundred years. We believe that it will still be here when he comes to receive his own. We know this will be so if we continue in his will.
