Minister Honored For Service

On Feb. 22, the Rev. H.C. Stringfellow celebrated 50 years as an active minister in Florida Baptist churches, mainly in the Tampa area.

A resident of Brooksville since 1977, he most recently served for 14 months as interim pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church in Brooksville, where he was called in 1979.

Members of the church cited his devotion and length of service as they celebrated the golden anniversary of his ordination.

Stringfellow was ordained Feb. 22, 1931, when he was called to pastor the West Hillsborough Baptist Church in Tampa.

Ordination ceremonies took place at the Seminole Heights Baptist Church there because of the size of the building as well as the fact that he had previously been a teacher, choir director and deacon at the Seminole Heights church before his ordination.

Active in church work since boyhood, Stringfellow also was superintendent of the Buffalo Avenue Baptist Church Sunday School for six years and served that church as a deacon before ordination.

He received his education at Stetson University, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and Moody Bible Institute.

He was secretary to the Tampa Baptist Pastor's Conference and has served as supply pastor for many area churches since his retirement.

After five years at West Hillsborough, he spent two years as pastor of Land O'Lakes Baptist Church; 25 years at Northside Baptist, Tampa; six years at Bethel Baptist Church, where he was associate pastor for another year; and was associate minister at Northgate Baptist Church, Tampa, for six years before his retirement from the active pastorate in 1977.

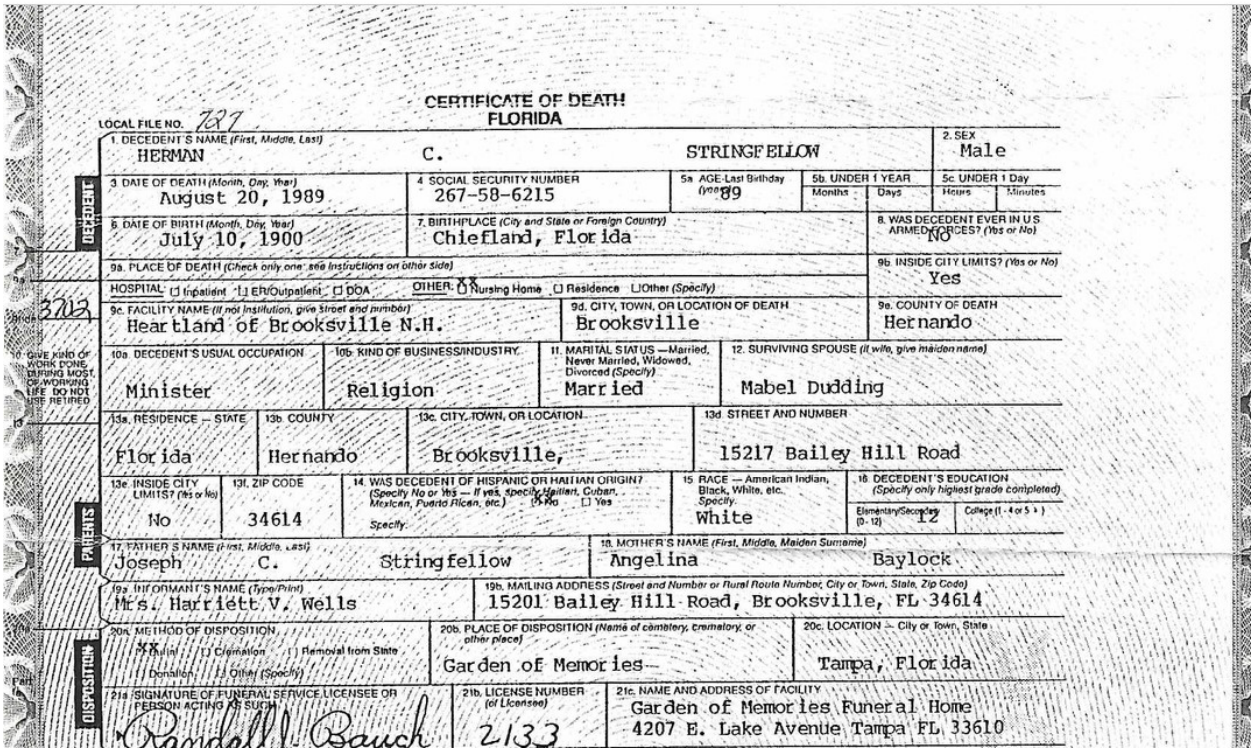

Still active and alert at 80 years of age, Stringfellow said he had really enjoyed his 14 months at New Hope Baptist.

"I have become very fond of this group and appreciate having been their shepherd for more than a year," he said.

He and his second wife, Mabel, live on Bailey Hill Road and remain active in church and community affairs.
